POLICE INQUIRY IN VANCOUVER REFUSED

TRIAL TAKES CAPTAIN FROM WARSHIP POST

Capt. Dewar Removed By Courtmartial From British Battleship Royal Oak

As Was Commander Daniel, He Is Found Guilty of Upsetting Discipline

Gibraltar, April 5. — Captain Kenneth G. Dewar C.B.E., was found guilty by a courtmartial here to-day of one of two charges of acting to the prejudice of good order and naval discipline growing out of the now famous dance aboard the battleship Royal Oak at Malta. He was sentenced to be dismissed from his ship and severely reprimanded.

FORWARDED LETTER

The captain was found guilty of the first charge, that of acting to the prejudice of discipline in accepting and forwarding a letter from Commander H. M. Daniel, D.S.O., to the squadron commander, containing terms subversive of naval discipline. The latter was in criticism of the conduct of Rear-Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard.

The second charge, on which the captain was found not guilty, was accepting and forwarding a letter the terms of which were contrary to the King's Regulations and Admiralty instructions

SECOND CONVICTION

The conviction of Capt. Dewar was the second growing out of the Royal Oak incidents. On Tuesday of this week Commander H. M. Daniel, D.S.O., was found guilty of conduct prejudicial to discipline and was dismissed from his ship and severely reprimanded.

DUELS OF WORDS

The Dewar hearing was featured by wordy duels between Rear-Admiral Collard and Captain Dewar, who acted as his own counsel and cross-examined Admiral Collard. The captain conducted his case with the assurance of an experienced King's Counsel and

Contract Calls For Twelve Trips Monthly Between Seattle and Victoria

Seattle, April 5.—Sealed proposals for carrying the United States mail by aeroplane between Seattle and Victoria will be received at the Post Office Department in Washington, D.C., until noon, May 21, according to announcement to-day by C. M. Perkins, postmaster of Seattle.

The new contract will be let for the year July 1, 1928-June 30, 1929. Each bid requires a bond of $2,000. ## Two British Naval Officers Convicted of Indiscipline

Capt. K. G. Dewar (left) to-day at Gibraltar was convicted by a courtmartial of conduct on the battleship Royal Oak prejudicial to discipline, as was Commander H. M. Daniel (centre) last Tuesday. The other principal figure at the hearings was Rear-Admiral Bernard St. G. Collard (right). Both Capt. Dewar and Commander Daniel were dismissed from their ship and severely reprimanded. This puts them on half pay, but they may be appointed to other ships if openings occur.

WILL STRESS TEMPERANCE

MacLean to Put New Text Books in Classes to Emphasize Lessons

Teachers Will Use Temperance Work in Preparing Material For Pupils

To impress more effectively upon the minds of public school children the lessons of temperance, the Department of Education is planning important changes in text books in hygiene, used in the school curricula.

As announced by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier and Minister of Education, the department will place "Physiology and Hygiene" by Richard and Caldwell (Gage & Company), in Grades Seven and Eight as part of the compulsory curriculum. At present this book is used only as a reference work by teachers, but starting next Fall it will become part of the course studied by all pupils in the two grades. The work stresses effectively the value of temperance, devoting much space to this subject. It was recommended for adoption in the schools by the Education Survey Commission.

TO AID TEACHERS

In order to make certain that teachers are adequately equipped to impress temperance lessons on their pupils, the Education Department, Dr. MacLean stated, will make "Scientific Temperance" an established reference book for teachers. It will be used by all teachers in preparing lessons on temperance for their pupils. "Scientific Temperance" was written by Isabel McCorkindale and is published by the Dominion Temperance Committee, Toronto. It is recommended by Canadian temperance organizations.

INTERNATIONAL BOARD CHANGES ARE DISCUSSED

Washington, April 5.—Once more refusing to discuss a rumor they had resigned, the three Canadian members of the International Joint Commission left here last night at the close of the semi-annual executive meeting. Dispatches were received here recently from Canada saying the three Canadian commissioners, A. C. Macgrath, Sir William H. Hearst and H. A. Powell, K.C., had resigned to give Premier King a free hand in reorganizing the commission.

DEPEW'S DEATH IS REGRETTED BY WIDE CIRCLES

New Yorker Was Nearing 94th Birthday; Famous After-dinner Speaker

New York, April 5—Plans for the funeral of the late Chauncey M. Depew were being made here to-day as messages of regret came from all the states of this republic and from Canada and other foreign countries.

Mr. Depew, picturesque grand old man, who entered politics before Lincoln, was mentioned for the presidency of the United States, served as a senator for twelve years and for more than seventy years was famed as an after-dinner speaker, died of bronchial pneumonia at his home here at 4.20 a.m. to-day.

Mr. Depew was approaching his ninety-fourth birthday when death overtook him. He was born April 23, 1834.

He suffered a chill while coming to New York last week after a vacation of five days at St. Petersburg, Florida. On Saturday he was stricken with a

Special Hockey Stories for Fans In Friday's Times

Owing to the exceptional interest being taken in Victoria over the world's hockey series for the Stanley Cup The Times has made arrangements for a special colorful story on each game from the typewriter of one of the most popular Eastern scribes. The first game will be played to-night and The Times special correspondent will be right on the inside to get all the highlights of the contest. His story of the game will appear in tomorrow's Times.

The series promises to be one of the most hotly contested in the history of the Stanley Cup. The contending teams, the New York Rangers, led by Lester Patrick of Victoria, and the Montreal Maroons, comprise the finest physical specimens in hockey and, being groomed to the minute, they can be counted on giving everything to win. The Times specials will tell about their superhuman efforts.

Technical School Plebiscite Before Ratepayers To-day

Voting on the District Technical School By-law opened at the City Market Building at 8 a.m. to-day, with M. F. Hunter, City Clerk, in charge of the poll as returning officer. Voting was slow during the morning, but is expected to speed up this afternoon and evening.

A three-fifths majority of the ballots cast will be required to give passage to the by-law.

Voting is restricted to those eligible to record their vote on money issues.

The poll will be closed at 8 p.m., with an early announcement of the result anticipated.

The passage of the by-law would authorize a thirty-year sinking fund loan by the city in the sum of $150,000, to raise $145,000 net for the city's share of a $250,000 building and equipment.

The sum of $105,000 would be contributed by the Provincial educational authorities towards the creation of technical tuition here, as well as the usual grants in aid of maintenance.

The proposed Technical School would serve the City, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich, as well as a wide area on the southern portion of Vancouver Island.

Carrying charges on the loan would approximate $9,400 a year, or 35 cents for every $1,000 of assessed value in the city and 45 cents per $1,000 of assessment if the full maintenance cost is added.

Vancouver to Have Technical School Costing Half Million

Information received by Municipal Inspector George H. Deane, of Victoria, from J. S. Gordon, Municipal Inspector of Vancouver, regarding technical school expenditures in Vancouver, provides a striking argument in favor of the proposal before Victoria ratepayers to-day.

In direct contrast to claims that the technical school plan is not popular in Vancouver, is the announcement that the contract for construction of a new Technical High School in Vancouver has been awarded to Carter-Halls-Aldinger Co. Limited, on a tender of $474,929. In addition $50,000 will be spent on new equipment supplementing $50,000 worth of equipment now on hand. Altogether nearly $1,000,000 will be spent on schools in Vancouver during the year.

The by-law before the Victoria ratepayers to-day calls for the expenditure by the city of but $145,000 net for the city's share of a $250,000 building and equipment. The sum of $105,000 would be contributed by the Provincial Government as well as the usual grants in aid of maintenance.

NEW B.C. FIRMS BREAK RECORDS

March Incorporations Total 108; April Continues Rush of New Concerns

Incorporation of companies in British Columbia broke all records in March with the formation of 108 new concerns here, according to figures issued at the Parliament Buildings. This rush of new companies will continue in April, judging by the heavy list of incorporations registered during the last week. Twenty-three firms took out papers enabling them to operate in the Province. Among them was the Pacific Tidewater Mines Limited, of Victoria, which will develop mineral properties on Vancouver Island and elsewhere in British Columbia in close association with the Ladysmith Smelter.

IRELAND-TO-U.S. FLIERS HOPE TO FLY TO-MORROW

Pilot Koehl and His German Companions Have Monoplane Bremen Fuelled

Start Delayed By Wet Condition of Baldonnel Field Near Dublin

Dublin, April 5.—The German monoplane Bremen to-day was fuelled at the Baldonnel aerodrome, near here, and ready to take off at a few hours' notice for New York. The field itself still was soft from recent rains, and the authorities said there was little chance of the heavily laden plane being able to take off for the United States before to-morrow.

With its wing, regular and emergency tanks filled, the Bremen carried 2,500 pounds of fuel. This is considered sufficient to keep the plane in flight more than forty hours and give a flying radius of 4,500 miles. The distance from Dublin to New York is about 3,500 miles.

RUNWAY EXTENDED

Yesterday the constructed runway was extended by the addition of several hundred old railroad ties, in the expectation this would materially aid the machine at the take-off.

The pilot is Capt. Herman Koehl, German war ace, who will be accompanied by a co-pilot and Baron Ehrenfeld von Huenefeld, sponsor of the flight.

If the plane arrives at Mitchel Field, Long Island, the three will be the first to have flown from East to West across the Atlantic Ocean.

SEVERAL KILLED BY TORNADOES

Storms Sweep Parts of Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas

Kansas City, April 5.—Tornadoes climaxed a general wind and rain storm that caused at least three deaths, left more than a score injured, and damaged buildings at widely separated points in the southwestern United States yesterday. Several persons are missing.

First reported in southern Kansas and northern Oklahoma, the storm swept southeast into Arkansas, where a tornado in Washington County devastated a large area. One person is known to have been killed and a score injured.

BUILDINGS WRECKED

Two tornadoes occurred in Texas, one of the twisters destroying or partly wrecking more than a dozen buildings at Bangs. No one was injured.

One man perished, seven persons are missing, and hundreds were driven from their homes when 6.81 inches of rain fell in a half-hour at Shawnee, Okla., last night.

While the storm at Shawnee lasted less than an hour, water rose to a height of five feet in some sections of the city, washing houses from their foundations and filling the streets with debris. One body was recovered and identified as that of a man named Lewis. A Mrs. Campbell and a baby were missing. A tornado three blocks wide hit the heart of the city. Losses were placed at more than $150,000.

CANDIDATE NAMED

Squamish, April 5.—At a convention here last night, E. C. Carson, rancher, of Pavilion, was nominated as the Conservative standard-bearer in Lillooet for the next provincial general election.

MOVE TO HAVE MORALITY SQUAD OF VANCOUVER POLICE SUSPENDED FAILS

At Lively Session Terminal City Police Board Tables Commissioner T. W. Fletcher's Motion Asking Provincial Government to Appoint Royal Commission to Investigate Charges of Corruption in City's Police Force

Vancouver, April 5.—Rejecting a compromise proposal offered by Alderman J. A. Garbutt, the Vancouver police commission this morning, at one of the most exciting sessions ever held by it, tabled Commissioner T. W. Fletcher's formal motion requesting a royal commission to investigate alleged corruption in the police department of the city.

With Mr. Fletcher's motion was coupled the suggestion the entire morality squad be suspended.

The air was electric with tension as Mayor Louis D. Taylor, chairman of the board, Alderman Garbut and Mr. Fletcher, members of the commission, took their places.

Commissioner Garbutt's proposal for submission of the evidence to a tribunal followed lengthy statements by the mayor and Mr. Fletcher in which they outlined their respective positions. Mr. Fletcher had agreed to the proposal in principle, as an amendment to his motion calling for a royal commission. Mr. Garbutt thought the proposal should be embodied as a separate resolution and the original motion tabled. With this Mr. Fletcher also agreed. He then suggested G. G. McGeer, K.C., as his nominee on the board. Commissioner Garbutt then agreed to J. B. Williams, city solicitor, and it was decided the two should appoint the third.

NOT IN AGREEMENT

Mayor Taylor took strong exception to the appointment of Mr. McGeer on the ground that he was Mr. Fletcher's personal solicitor and that they were associated in a financial way. Mr. Williams said he could not agree to act if there was any business connection between them. Mr. Fletcher could not see that any importance should be attached to the selection of his own solicitor, to whom he was to submit his evidence. A deadlock resulted on the question of the appointment of Mr. McGeer. It was admitted by Mr. Fletcher that Mr. McGeer, his nominee, was associated with him in connection with a piece of property, but he refused to name an alternative.

MINISTERS' STATEMENTS

Mayor Taylor assured the commission he had been informed by Premier J. D. MacLean in Vancouver last week that the Provincial Government would not grant a royal commission to investigate the charges as advocated by Mr. Fletcher. He had received a similar assurance from the Attorney-General, he intimated.

"I wish to make it plan I have never opposed the appointment in principle," he said. "I am opposed, however, to hanging a man without a trial."

FIFTEEN B.C. CANDIDATES IN FIELD NOW

Parties Busy Preparing For Poll With Nomination of Standard Bearers

Big Changes in Personnel in Vancouver Forecast as Plans Develop

Vancouver, April 5.—Selection of candidates for the forthcoming provincial general election is now actively in progress. About fifteen of the possible ninety-six candidates already have been chosen by the two leading parties and a number of Labor candidates have also been nominated in the Greater Vancouver area.

In Vancouver City the Liberals have five sitting members out of six, all of whom are understood to be willing to run again. The Conservatives have no city representative, but may decide to endorse A. McC. Creery, returned at the last election as a Provincial Party member.

The Liberals have at least one new man to add to their ticket and the Conservatives have a whole slate to make up. A. L. Teetzel, wholesale merchant, or some other leading business man, is being spoken of as the sixth Liberal and the Conservatives have available out of the twelve Conservative and Provincial candidates last election about five now considered in the running.

MANY CHANGES EXPECTED

Of those who ran on the last Conservative ticket, W. J. Bowser, K.C., has retired and two others, Mrs. S. D. Scott and P. D. Roe, died. From the Provincial ticket Major-General A. D. McRae has gone to the House of Commons and one or two others are unlikely to figure on a straight Conservative slate. Notably such former Liberals as Mrs. J. Z. Hall, D. E. McTaggart and the Labor man, Birt Showler.

FEW SURVIVORS

This leaves available from the last election A. McC. Creery, R. L. Maitland, S. L. Howe, T. H. Kirk and F. W. Rounsefell, if they all wish to run. Richmond-Point Grey will probably supply the odd man. In that riding G. A. Walkem, Provincial, nosed out Lieut.-Colonel W. W. Foster, Conservative, and then joined the Conservative caucus after his election. He is frankly out for a nomination, and if he does not get the Conservative convention it is said he may run as an Independent.

Old line Conservatives around Kerisdale are said to be desirous of renominating Lieut.-Col. Foster. The situation is far from clear yet.

FALL CAUSES DEATH

Vancouver, April 5.—William Falls, who was injured when he fell down the stairs in a local hotel Sunday night, died yesterday in a hospital.

CANTON REDS SAY DEATHS ADD TO THEIR STRENGTH

Canton, China, April 5.—Canton was tense to-day after 303 Reds had been executed by the military authorities in an attempt to thwart an uprising. The communists boasted the bloodshed would only make their movement the stronger and hasten the fall of the present Cantonese Government. Seventy-three Reds were executed to-day and 230 earlier in the week, after a fourteen-year-old street urchin had revealed a communist plot to the authorities as a result of listening to them gossiping in the streets.

VANCOUVER MAN PUT END TO LIFE

Oscar Hedman Leaped Into Burrard Inlet and Was Drowned

Vancouver, April 5—Throwing off his coat, a man, believed to have been Oscar Hedman, whose address here has not been ascertained, is said to have plunged to his death in the waters of Burrard Inlet from the Union Steamship Company's dock shortly before 4.30 p.m. yesterday.

According to information given the police by W. J. Rough, Union Steamship Company constable, and Fred Barker, who was working at the Canadian Pacific Railway freight shed, the man walked to the edge of the dock, threw down his coat and jumped into the water, the body not again appearing on the surface until recovered by the police patrol boat crew.

Papers in the clothing indicated he was Oscar Hedman.

The body is now at the morgue.

FAMOUS BARON PILOT OF GERMANY A VICTIM OF CANADIAN AIR ACE

Baron Manfred von Richthofen sent more than eighty of the fighting planes of the Allies to their doom, together with their crews, and slew innumerable men upon the ground with his bombs and his machine guns. He was the most deadly of all the German fliers of the Great War. His life seemed to have a charm. There were weird tales told of his phantom red plane and of his fighting prowess. Then Baron Manfred von Richthofen clashed with the young Canadian pilot, Captain Roy Brown, younger and less experienced air warrior and plunged to his death.

A series of articles from this famous Canadian pilot will commence in The Times Saturday. In them readers will find all the tremendous fighting drama, the pathos, tragedy and dashes of humor and heroism that made the Air Force immortal. Capt. Brown lives in Toronto.

RECLAMATION PROJECT TO GET UNDERWAY SOON

Washington Agreement Removes Last Obstacle to Kootenay Flats Scheme

Power Development in the Kootenay District Planned; Hearing Here Shortly

Early reclamation of 8,000 to 10,000 fertile acres in Kootenay Flats, near Creston, for agricultural purposes was virtually assured by the action of the United States Government in agreeing to the project. Announcement in Washington, D.C., last night that the scheme would be acceptable to the United States authorities was taken here as meaning that the Creston Reclamation Company would go ahead with its reclamation plans.

Idaho interests, which have been successful with similar reclamation projects in the border state, are behind the Creston organization which proposes to create an important new farming area in the Kootenay district. The Creston concern has an understanding with the Provincial Government whereby it will secure a Crown grant to any land which it can reclaim up to 10,000 acres.

BIG DEVELOPMENT PLANNED

The plans of the company, it is understood here, call for the early reclamation of Kootenay Flats with the erection of large dikes to keep the Kootenay River away from the land, and the development of the area on a large scale. The Idaho system in handling similar projects has been to allow their development as two or three big farms and a similar practice will be followed here, it is believed. Until the land is thoroughly established as an agricultural area it will not be intensively colonized by small farmers.

The consent of the United States to the scheme was necessary because it will affect the level of the Kootenay River, running through part of Idaho.

Meanwhile industrialists are planning to develop power in the Kootenay Dis-

School Principal Sharply Criticized

West Burnaby, April 5.—Referring to "the presence of two girls in Hawaiian undress at a recent High School concert and the use of American slang in dramatic sketches," Chairman H. Stanley of the Burnaby School Board informed the trustees he is prepared to present a motion calling for the resignation of Principal C. G. Brown of the Burnaby South High School.

Declaring pupils attending the school are being educated "roughly, crudely, and on American rather than British lines," the chairman presented a resolution asking Principal Brown for an explanation. The resolution was seconded by Trustee C. M. M. Harper and was approved by the board.

The resolution stated that "the conduct and attitude of the principal of the Burnaby South High School lacks respect due to the board."

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES IN VICTORIA CHURCHES

PASTOR RELATES EASTER MESSAGE

Rev. H. J. Armitage Writes Timely Summary of Good Friday Sermon

A Good Friday message, which Rev. H. J. Armitage will enlarge during his services on that day, is given out by the Victoria West United Church pastor as follows: "And They Condemned Him to Be Guilty (Worthy) of Death." Mark xiv 64.

"We need not be afraid of this text as it is one of the most illuminating in the Bible. Its concern is the death of Jesus Christ about which all else centres. It refers to the Atonement. At-one-ment! At one with God through the Saviour of the world. Jesus by His life and death did for us what we could not do for ourselves. He fought and conquered all the enemies of humanity. All the forces of evil were concentrated against Him, but they failed to break His purpose, or destroy His influence. God did not share the opposition that sought to destroy Jesus. But He allowed that opposition to centre on Jesus and then gave Him power to endure and overcome.

"'Consider Him who endured such contradictions of sinners against Himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds.'

"The text from Mark xiv 64 is the only verse where the word guilty is changed to worthy. This will be found in the margin of the authorized version and in the revised version. The change is most significant and of great value. Christ was worthy of death, worthy of meeting so great a need, worthy of dying so great a death for so great a cause.

"'There was no other good enough,
To pay the price of sin.'

"Christ was worthy to abolish death by His death. Paul says, 'He delivered us from so great a death.' 'He tasted death for every man.' 'He became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross.' Christ gave Himself that we might not die. What is death? The body does not determine the thought of death. What we have got used to calling death, Jesus called sleep. Jesus came to save us from what He called death. He said 'If any man keep My Word he shall never see death.'

"A believer in Christ passing from earth does not die. He abides for ever, in accepting Christ as Saviour and Lord, and taking into his very being those principles which He brought to the world; in other words, gladly accepting the programme of Jesus, and living by it, to overcome death just as Jesus did. Jesus put these life-giving principles to the test, even to the test of death itself and He won. So will you, follower of Christ, if you are sincere and have caught His sacrificial spirit.

"But Jesus passed through this experience of death, which was our penalty. What is the penalty of sin? Perhaps it can be expressed in this way: It is the losing of the fullness of the life of God in the soul. But Jesus tasted that death for every man, that we might never taste it. Go to dark Gethsemane, it is midnight, and we touch the awful mystery. Listen:

"'He began to be sorrowful and very heavy.'

"That marked the beginning of His dying. Go further into the Garden and listen again:

"'My soul is exceedingly sorrowful even unto death.'

"Later, while hanging on the cross, when all around was black and sinful, when the curse of the world was heavily upon Him; when the horrors of hell compassed Him about; when no inspiration descended from heaven; when no angel visited Him; when the Father's voice was hushed; when He cried:

"'My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?'

"In that hour Jesus passed through what every man passes through, who shuts himself from the presence of God, because he has failed to avail himself of the benefits the suffering Saviour has made possible for him.

"On the other hand, every man who embraces the programme of Jesus, will never pass through death, for Jesus did that for him. How unequal we feel to tell the story of Calvary?

"'Tis mystery all the Immortal dies.
Who can explain His strange design?
In vain the first-born seraph tries,
To sound the depth of love Divine;
'Tis mercy all let earth adore,
Let angel minds inquire no more.'

"No wonder darkness spread over the land, and the earth trembled, and the veil of the Temple was rent in twain, and the rocks were rent, and no wonder the people feared greatly and cried, 'Truly this was the Son of God.'

"In His love and pity He hath redeemed us. We are reconciled to God by His Son. He was worthy to do this.

"Some years ago a young women's college was in danger of being closed for want of money. In the conference where that college was located an appeal was made for help. An old retired minister arose and subscribed quite a large sum for a man of his slender means. The conference protested his apparent extravagance. He got up and told this story:

"I was receiving about $450 a year, and our two children, daughters, were ready to go to that college and they stayed there three years, and though I had asked for a bill it did not come. At the end of that period, and on graduation day, we went to attend it and we thought it would be a good chance to ask for our bill in person. So into the office we went and met the treasurer. In response to our appeal, he replied, 'nothing against you.' 'Yes there is,' I replied, 'I know what I owe.' The treasurer said again, 'you owe nothing.' I was not convinced, so asked to look at the book myself. There it was, my name, and the sum opposite of several hundred dollars. But underneath, however, written in red ink were the words, 'Otherwise provided for.'

"Now it seems that the Good Friday message is this: 'We know what we owe. The wages of sin is death—but the gift of God is eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ.'"

MORNING SERVICE

There will be a service in the Oak Bay United Church on Good Friday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. Robert Aylward will speak on "The Place Which is Called Calvary."

The late emperor of Japan was the 123rd of his family to rule over the nation; the first emperor for whom funeral services were held lived 600 years before the birth of Christ.

Lieut.-Governor Registers With League Society

The application card was accompanied by a letter from A. M. D. Fairbairn, private secretary, which was sent to A. S. Averill, secretary of the Victoria branch of the League of Nations, and reads as follows:

"Dear Mr. Averill—His Honor desires me to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, and to say that he will have very much pleasure in taking ticket No. 90,001. His Honor wishes me to say how much he is interested in the work the society is seeking to accomplish, and in wishing you every success in your local endeavor, to say he will be interested to hear what progress is made in the forthcoming drive. The Dean will be the preacher at the three hours' devotion and will take as his subject "The Mysticism of the Cross." Baron von Hugel has said, "The religion that is to lay permanent hold of thoughtful men must be national, institutional and mystical." The mysticism of the cross is its inner secret. The Dean will endeavor to show that the cross is as wide as the universe and as intimate as the individual life. The first address at noon will sketch the main outlines of mysticism and will be the basis of all that follows.

The preacher at evensong will be the Rev. F. A. Ramsay.

The services at St. Matthias's Church on Easter Day will be: Holy communion at 7, 8 and 11 a.m.; evensong and sermon, 7.30 o'clock.

EMMANUEL CHURCH SERVICE FRIDAY

Cantata "Olivet to Calvary" Will Be Rendered in Baptist Church in Evening

The cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," will be given on Good Friday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist Church. The music of this popular cantata was written by Maunder, the composer of other well known works, such as "Penitence, Pardon, Peace" and "Song of Thanksgiving," besides numerous anthems and church services.

"Olivet to Calvary" is most appropriate for a Good Friday performance, as it recalls, simply and reverently, the scenes which mark the last few days of the Saviour's life on earth; the rejoicing of the multitude with hosannas and palms; the lonely walk back over the mount at night; the supper of the Passover; the Garden of Gethsemane; the tumult before Pilate in the Judgment Hall; the Passage of the Cross; the tragedy and triumph of Calvary. The solo parts of this work is for soprano, tenor and bass, and these parts will be taken by Miss Netta Parfitt, soprano; D. Stewart, tenor, and Harold Parfitt, baritone. Fred Parfitt will conduct the choir.

Before the commencement of the cantata the choir will sing "God So Loved the World," from Stainer's Crucifixion, and "Blessed Be the God and Father" (Wesley), the solo part in this number will be taken by Miss Gladys Marchant. Between parts one and two the hymns "Just As I Am" and "Rock of Ages," will be sung by the choir and congregation. Ivor Parfitt will preside at the organ and Mrs. G. H. E. Green at the piano.

GOVERNMENT LOSES COURT ACTION OVER DAMAGE TO BRIDGE

Vancouver, April 5.—Concluding trial in admiralty court, Mr. Justice Martin has dismissed an action of the Department of Public Works, represented by the Attorney-General of British Columbia, to recover $209 from the tug Pacific Foam, which is owned by Pacific Coyle Navigation Company, for damage to No. 4 bridge, which crosses the North Arm of the Fraser River at Burne.

The accident occurred December 10, 1925, as the Pacific Foam passed through the sixty-foot span with a scow in tow.

On behalf of the plaintiff, W. P. Burd contended tugs passing through the span should have their scows lashed alongside.

This practice was contested by many tug captains who testified for the defence, and who have been accustomed for years to navigate the span with scows in tow.

Had Dandruff And Pimples 2 Years Cuticura Healed

"I was troubled for two years with dandruff and pimples. The pimples were scattered over my face, neck and head. They were hard, large and red, and festered and scaled over. They itched and burned badly, and when I scratched, it caused them to spread. The dandruff affected the growth of my hair, and it fell out badly. I lost a lot of sleep on account of the trouble.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I got relief. I purchased more, and after using three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) J. W. Polenchuk, Donwell, Sask.

DEPEW'S DEATH IS REGRETTED BY WIDE CIRCLES

cold and on the advice of Dr. H. Lyman Hooker, he remained in bed at his home. Monday he became unconscious and medical consultants were called in. Tuesday he improved and regained consciousness.

After a good day yesterday, Mr. Depew began to decline at 7 o'clock last night. Members of his family, the servants and household staff, were summoned to the bedside.

AS YOUNG MAN

In advanced age, Mr. Depew always viewed life from a young man's viewpoint and was an incurable optimist.

On his ninety-third birthday he agreed to join the New York Young Republican Club, because he felt contact with young men was the only way to keep in touch with the world's activities.

Mr. Depew retained his interest in politics until the end. He also continued in the world of business affairs, serving as chairman of the board of the New York Central Railroad till death came.

Mr. Depew said he believed "commonsense rather than monkey glands is what is lengthening the span of life."

Chauncey Mitchell Depew, who was credited with having originated two-thirds of the funny stories told around the world, made his first public speech several years before President Lincoln became a resident of the White House; and nearly seventy years later, with health and vigor unimpaired, he was still a favorite in a new generation.

His reputation as an after-dinner story-teller was so widespread that it largely eclipsed the more serious work of his business and political career, which included Republican campaigning in all the national canvasses from Lincoln to Harding, twelve years in the United States Senate, fourteen years as president of the New York Central Railroad, and many years as chairman of the board of directors of the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroads. He also was a director and legal adviser in many other corporations throughout the United States.

HIS "RECREATION"

After-dinner speaking he called his "recreation," and he indulged in it to a greater extent perhaps than any other man of his time. No New York dinner or Yale occasion, particularly, was complete without his presence and speech. The Montauk Club of Brooklyn marked time for him by giving a dinner in his honor on every birthday for nearly thirty years back. The extent of his participation in notable dinners was emphasized in 1910, when it was found that eight large volumes were required to contain his speeches, which were published in a private de luxe edition at that time.

"I am known as an after-dinner speaker. I hope I also am known as a man who works," he said on his eightieth birthday. "My dinners have never interfered with my business. They have been my recreation. Most men get their relaxation in cards. That makes them keep late hours, and they sit in a room with bad air and drink too many cocktails. They die young."

BORN AT PEEKSKILL

Chauncey M. Depew was born at Peekskill, N.Y., April 23, 1834. His ancestors on the paternal side were French Hugenots who came to America in the seventeenth century, and on the maternal side he was descended from Roger Sherman, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The house where he was born had been the Depew homestead for more than 200 years.

The father, in addition to being a merchant and farmer, also was a pioneer in river transportation between Peekskill and New York City. The mother, a woman of highly developed literary tastes, was chiefly responsible for the thoroughness of her son's education. He obtained his preliminary training in Peekskill Academy and in 1852 entered Yale University, from which he was graduated four years later as a barrister.

CHANGED PARTY

Returning to the farm at the age of twenty-two, he clashed with his father over politics and subsequently abandoned the latter's Democratic faith to take local stumps in favor of Fremont and his Free Soil campaign. After the election he began practicing law, and earned his first fee—$1.75 for an opinion that required several days to prepare—just about the time Lincoln was first mentioned for the presidency. He immediately entered the campaign on behalf of the latter and gained considerable fame as a political orator.

Eight years later he had been nominated and confirmed for the post of United States Minister to Japan. Previous to that he had been Secretary of New York State and had held several other public offices, although he declined more political appointments perhaps than any other young man in the country.

HIS GREAT DECISION

Just as Depew was preparing to leave for Japan, Commodore Vanderbilt acquired the New York and Harlem Railroad—"128 miles of junk," as he afterwards described it. He called upon Depew and offered him the position of general counsel at a salary of $7,500 a year, but the young lawyer promptly informed the financier he was to receive a much higher salary as Minister to Japan.

"It's up to you," Vanderbilt replied. "Railroads are the career for a young man. There is nothing in politics. Don't make a fool of yourself."

Depew took the job, and on January 1, 1928, had rounded out sixty-two years with the Vanderbilt interests. His connection with railroading covered practically the whole period of railway construction, expansion and development in the United States. Beginning in 1866 as attorney for the New York and Harlem, he became vice-president of all the Vanderbilt roads merged into the New York Central in 1882 and president of the New York Central in 1885. In 1899 he resigned to become chairman of the board of directors, a position he continued to fill through the eventful period of reconstruction following the World War, till his death.

Mr. Depew was frequently criticized for taking an active part in politics while he retained his powerful railroad connections, but those who knew his work intimately were quick to point out that he never neglected the details of either his business or his public career.

LONG RECORD

Mr. Depew had known intimately every President from Lincoln to Coolidge. His first meetig with Lincoln occurred during the Civil War, while Depew was Secretary of State of New York State. He had gone to Washington on a mission connected with the New York National Guard, but upon entering the White House reception room and seeing the kind-hearted President surrounded by scores of office-seekers and other favor-hunters, Depew turned to go.

"Just a moment, young man," said the President. "What did you want?"

"Nothing," replied the New Yorker.

"Well, this is a luxury," Lincoln replied. "No one has ever been here before who didn't want something. I wish you would remain until I have attended to the wants of these people, for I would like to talk to you."

NOMINATING CONVENTION

More than twenty years after that interview, Mr. Depew had become such a power in the Republican Party that he was prominently mentioned for the Presidency, and in 1888, when the Republican National Convention appeared to be hopelessly deadlocked, Depew received ninety-nine votes for the nomination. It being apparent that a nomination was not possible under the existing conditions, as Mr. Depew concentrated the full strength of his state, he withdrew his name and threw his support to Benjamin Harrison, who was subsequently nominated and elected.

Mr. Depew declined several flattering appointments at the hands of President Harrison, including that of Secretary of State, and was not active in politics again until 1899, when he was elected United States Senator from New York, serving until 1911.

HAPPIEST YEARS

"Those twelve years were the happiest of my life" he said upon his retirement.

Mr. Depew married twice. His first wife was Elize Hegeman, whom he married in 1871, and by whom he had one son, Chauncey M. Depew Jr. She died in 1893. His second wife was May Palmer, whom he married in 1901.

On his ninety-first birthday Mr. Depew was the recipient of 500 messages of good wishes and in June, 1925, he made his first talk over the radio.

HIS BEST WORK

He once said his best work had been done between seventy-five and ninety, and his semi-withdrawal from business which he refused to designate as "retiring," coupled with an increased tendency toward colds, made his years after ninety less active than the preceding ones.

When he was ninety-two, he said he expected to live to be 100, and then, perhaps, "take up golf."

Fred W. Grant, of The Times composing room staff, has personal memories of the late Chauncey M. Depew extending back many years. While with the composing room staff of The New York Herald from 1893 till 1898 Mr. Grant was a member of the Lincoln Club, a political organization of which Mr. Depew was one of the leading figures. On Mr. Depew's ninety-third birthday, April 23, 1927, Mr. Grant wrote a letter of congratulation, to which the distinguished New Yorker replied without delay, this being a striking illustration of the vivid interest Mr. Depew retained in life till the very end.

EAST BUYING PEND OREILLE AND SMELTERS STOCKS

Toronto, April 5 (By B.C. Bond)—Whereas heretofore the Vancouver mining market has been leading the eastern markets with respect to price movements in Pend Oreille lead and zinc shares, recently the Toronto market has taken the lead from Vancouver.

This change is explained by the fact that the controlling interests in Pend Oreille have been in Toronto and Montreal for some little time and that news for the time being breaks here instead of at the Coast.

The Financial News Bureau is informed that people who are close to Consolidated Smelters and Pend Oreille have been consistent buyers of the various subsidiary mine stocks of these two companies this week and that they are in the market to stay in the belief that price appreciation in the immediate future is assured.

Those who have followed the course of events in connection with Pend Oreille expect that an announcement regarding a closer affiliation of the enterprise with Smelters will be made in the near future.

WAR VETERANS ADVOCATE PEACE

Ex-service men of Victoria have thrown their weight in with the League of Nations Society in the world endeavor to secure permanent peace. Having personally experienced the horrors of war their influence should have considerable weight with the general public, the publicity committee of the League of Nations Society declares.

Action was taken by Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion at the general meeting held last night in the clubrooms, 625 Courtney Street, when the report of the delegate to the League of Nations campaign committee was unanimously endorsed and enthusiastic approval given to the recommendation that the branch take out corporate membership in the society.

Veterans of war are now fighting to prevent children of the next and succeeding generations from suffering, as they did, through the crime of war.

ASKS LENIENCY FOR CHINAMAN

Opium Hearing Finally Ends After Month of Action

The trial of Wing Bong Kee, charged with being in possession of opium in his room in Chinatown, ended this morning after more than a month of delays. Magistrate Jay reserved his judgment until he has had time to consider the evidence.

His Honor heard Stuart Henderson, counsel for the defendant, sum up the evidence for the defence, and urge that the prisoner be given the benefit of any doubt. City Prosecutor, C. L. Harrison, summed up the prosecution's case.

The first hearing of the accused commenced on March 1. The case has been heard intermittently since then.

A remand was arranged to-day until Tuesday next, when a further remand will be called and the date fixed for the rendering of judgment.

Asiatic Island Given to Holland By Arbitrator

The Hague, April 5.—The Island of Las Palmas (Miangas), lying between the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines, belongs to Holland as the result of a decision handed down by Professor Max Huber, a Swiss statesman, who arbitrated the dispute between the United States and The Netherlands respecting sovereignty of the island.

The island of Las Palmas (Miangas) is only two miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, but it has a population of approximately 700. It lies fifty miles southeast of Cape San Augustin and seventy-five miles east of Boquit Point, both being extremities of the island of Mindanao.

U.S. TRADE PROTECTION DISCUSSED

Washington, April 5.—After an hour's discussion yesterday, the Senate foreign relations committee deferred action on the Nye resolution, by which the Senate would declare it never would be the policy of the United States to guarantee or protect by force the investments and property of its citizens in foreign countries.

WILKINS PLANE FLIGHT ACROSS ARCTIC DELAYED

Seward, Alaska, April 5.—Capt. Geo. H. Wilkins, Australian explorer, and Lieut. Carl Eielson of Nebraska evidently delayed the start of their aeroplane flight from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen, scheduled for 8 a.m. today. Two United States signal corps operators here have been listening constantly for the sound of the plane's radio transmitter, but have not heard a signal of any kind.

Wilkins was silent last night, and it was concluded he had transferred his radio transmitter from the ground to his plane. It can not be operated in the plane unless it is in the air.

POLICE INQUIRY IN VANCOUVER REFUSED

The mayor demanded to know why Mr. Fletcher had refused to allow him and Commissioner Garbutt to see the evidence he stated he possessed.

QUESTION OF CONFIDENCE

Mr. Fletcher replied his reason was that he had no confidence in the mayor.

"I have complete confidence in Mr. Garbutt," said Mr. Fletcher, but I have none whatever in you, Mr. Mayor. I don't intend to place this evidence before you and have it hawked about the city, with resultant persecution of those who have supplied it. They would be subjected to every kind of abuse and efforts to run them out of town."

"Well, I don't care whether you have confidence in me or not, Mr. Fletcher. The people of Vancouver have and I am content with that," said the Mayor.

"Well we'll see about that later on," said Mr. Fletcher. Now if you are quite through, I'll read a statement of my own."

CHARGE BY MAYOR

The mayor then charged Mr. Fletcher with having obtained evidence from characters of the underworld, maligning and seeking to discredit members of the force.

"You were seen riding with Sam Piastino," said the mayor heatedly. "Who is this man Piastino? He's served four years in the United States for white slavery and he's been found guilty of blindpigging here in Vancouver. And Casesa—the man who formerly laid charges against the morality squad and we exonerated them from those charges."

Commissioner Fletcher—Who told you I got information from Piastino?

SEEN IN AUTO

Mayor—I know you were seen riding with him and the supposition is that you received information.

Mr. Fletcher—Yes, the supposition is, but that is all it is.

Mayor—Well, Mr. Fletcher, if ever there was a time the police commission could have supported you, it doesn't exist now and will not until you put your cards on the table. If you haven't confidence in your fellow commissioners, your usefulness on the commission is ended.

SAYS MONEY PAID

During the statement he made early in the proceedings, Commissioner Fletcher said he had six sworn statements declaring moneys had been paid to prominent officials of the city's police force.

"I propose to place the information which has been given to me before the Attorney-General with a request that a royal commission be appointed to carry out an investigation, regardless of what action our board takes to-day," he declared.

MANY ILLEGAL ACTS

"Information has been given to me from time to time of improper actions on the part of certain police officers," he said. "I have, to the best of my ability, investigated these charges and from my own personal investigations have found there are a large number of people carrying on illegal activities that can not but be known to the police organization of this city," he continued.

"The conduct of disorderly houses, gambling and bookmaking of various kinds are being carried on openly. To such an extent is this going on that I can only conclude the police organization is either wholly incompetent to deal with the situation or is corruptly permitting these practices to continue.

MAJORITY HONEST

"I want to say at the same time that my investigations have disclosed that the rank and file of the police force are above reproach, and that a proper investigation will disclose where the trouble really lies."

ONLY PROMISING METHOD

"I am satisfied that in no other way can our police department be brought to that state of efficiency which is necessary for it to carry on its duties in this city properly. Preliminary to such an investigation it would, to my way of thinking, be unwise to disclose the source of my information or to disclose the details of that information.

"I am therefore compelled to ask my fellow commissioners to accept my statements and to endorse by proposal that an investigation be carried out by a royal commission to be appointed by the Government of this Province.

"In the meantime I would suggest the entire morality squad be suspended, with power in those officials to apply for reinstatement.

"Before a properly constituted tribunal, which can carry on an investigation without fear or favor, I am certain more than forty witnesses are prepared to give evidence of improper and corrupt practices carried on by certain of our police officials.

"I have no quarrel with any member of the police organization of this city, nor have I any personal difference with any member of this commission. I have only a sincere desire to see the laws of this country enforced by those whose duty it is to enforce them," said Commissioner Fletcher.

OPPOSITION DENIED

Denying emphatically that he had ever attempted to block the appointment of a royal commission, Mayor Taylor declared he had twice discussed the question with Attorney-General Manson and once with Premier MacLean. The mayor's views on the question were fully known to those Ministers, he said, and he declared neither of them had found any fault with his attitude.

In opening his remarks the mayor declared:

"My attention has been drawn to a statement by Commissioner Fletcher. Whatever evidence, by way of affidavits or otherwise, Mr. Fletcher may have in his possesson has never yet been disclosed to his fellow commissioners and until I am made aware of the evidence it would be both idle and futile for me to express opinion whatever thereon. It is not only suggested, but boldly stated in the interview that my idea all along has been to oppose and prevent a royal commission being appointed.

"Mr. Fletcher is probably aware a royal commission is an expensive proceeding, and before subjecting the ratepayers to this expense the evidence which it is proposed to present should be submitted, or at least known, to the commissioners, and should be examined by the city prosecutor and the city solicitor before a request should be preferred for a royal commission.

"Mr. Fletcher suggests in his interview that the members of the police force who are suspected of wrongdoing should be suspended. This suggestion is so absolutely foreign to my idea of justice and fair play that I can not for a moment listen to it, and I will never be a party to any such action," said the Mayor.

"As to my sincerity in this matter, I am content to leave it to the public to judge."

11,000 REPLY TO "AD" FOR COAST LUMBER

Longview, Wash., April 5.—Home builders in all parts of the United States are showing a tremendous interest in fine home designs calling for the use of Douglas fir, West Coast hemlock, Western red cedar and Sitka spruce, four of the principal commercial woods of the Northwest, according to the West Coast Lumber Bureau. A four-color, two-page advertisement placed by the bureau in the March 17 issue of The Saturday Evening Post, featuring the home design which won first prize in the West Coast woods architectural competition, has brought in more than 11,000 requests for information on West Coast woods and for a booklet showing all twelve of the prize-winning designs in the competition. Requests for the literature offered in the advertisement are still coming in at the rate of more than 200 per day.

Over 3,000 requests for the same literature came to the bureau last month as the result of advertisements inserted in a number of other publications.

Bureau advertisements carried in various publications since the latter part of 1927 have resulted in the sale of more than the twenty-five sets of working drawings for the Otho McCrackin design. The bureau is making working plans of all twelve of the prize-winning designs available at a price of $25 per set. Further bureau advertisements during the 1928 building season will show some of the other home designs which won prizes in the architectural competition.

TRIAL TAKES CAPTAIN FROM WARSHIP POST

both Collard and he at times threw retorts at one another with not a little asperity. Such interchanges "hang on," or "hold hard a minute," occasionally escaped the court president, Rear-Admiral Townsend.

Rear-Admiral Collard, in the course of his evidence, was taken by Capt. Dewar over the allegation that he had told the captain that he (Collard) was treated "worse than a midshipman" and that he had omitted to return the salute when coming aboard the Royal Oak. Regarding the latter, Capt. Dewar asked whether the rear-admiral's action would not have a bad effect on discipline.

"Most emphatically no," replied Admiral Collard. "Discipline in a good ship does not depend on that sort of trivial rubbish."

RUMOR REPORTED

The master-at-arms of the Royal Oak gave evidence that a rumor had gone the rounds on the ships that Admiral Collard had told Capt. Dewar the latter was no more use to him than a midshipman."

Capt. Dewar declared in his evidence that he had not taken immediate action concerning the dance incident because he was acting as prosecutor next day at a courtmartial.

Dealing with the steps taken to prevent gossip about the dance incident, Capt. Dewar stated he had instructed his wife to do her utmost to hush up the matter among her friends who had mentioned it.

At the session of the trial this morning Capt. Dewar, answering questions asked by the prosecutor said:

"I did not mean to convey the impression the ship was in a latent state of mutiny. You are twisting my words to mean something else than their real meaning."

He rejected with a show of amusement a suggestion that Commander Daniel and himself had entered into a conspiracy to remove Admiral Collard.

"If I had thought the letter would be turned to the charge it has been I would not have accepted it," the captain said. "I never visualized the events which have happened, nor did I visualize that either Admiral Collard or myself would be turned out of the ship."

CHAPLAIN TESTIFIES

Rev. Harry Gouleing, chaplain of the battleship Royal Oak, said he had interviewed the rear-admiral with reference to the incident of the bandmaster and had asked the rear-admiral to explain to him what he, the chaplain, was sure Collard had not understood, namely, that he had insulted somebody not in a position to reply. Admiral Collard replied: "I'll have you court-martialed."

He made this threat, the witness said, after saying serious penalties awaited those making accusations against flag officers.

The witness then said he had gone to the rear-admiral to prevent mischief, not to make further mischief.

"What was the rear-admiral's condition," asked Day Kimball, acting in an advisory capacity to Capt. Dewar.

"He was out of control during the greater part of the interview," the chaplain responded. "I had the greatest difficulty myself remaining in his cabin."

INDIGNATION EXPRESSED

The chaplain said many men on board the Royal Oak had expressed to him the greatest indigation at what they thought was an abuse of power by Admiral Collard. The witness had gathered from the conversations of the officers that they were furious against Admiral Collard because they could not express their feelings, not because of a certain term used by the admiral to the bandmaster, but because the man had been insulted very cruelly. The chaplain added he had heard Admiral Collard called "a little swine."

Speed! Trains to catch . . . forty miles to go and only an hour to do it . . . bus schedules to keep . . . burning up the road all the time! No wonder ordinary tires give out.

Goodyear has produced special Heavy Duty tires for buses, trucks and cars in the most severe types of service.

Husky, rugged tires—extra heavy, extra strong. Tough, rough, road-gripping All-Weather Tread. Heavy rubber ribs on the sidewalls. These tires are bears for punishment. If you have unusual roads, loads or speeds, ask the Goodyear Selected Dealer about Heavy Duty tires.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL

IN ITS FINAL FLING AT THE TECHNICAL school project this morning The Colonist makes one statement which it should know is not in accordance with the facts. It says Vancouver so far "has not considered that the technical needs of its population require a capital outlay for a building."

This matter has been under discussion by the school authorities in Vancouver for several months and a decision was reached to go ahead with the project weeks ago. Tenders then were called for and in Tuesday's issue of The Journal of Commerce—published in Vancouver—the following appeared:

CARTER-HALLS-ALDINGER COMPANY LIMITED, 500 BEATTY STREET, WILL ERECT THE NEW TECHNICAL SCHOOL ON BROADWAY EAST, THEIR TENDER OF $474,929 HAVING BEEN ACCEPTED BY THE SCHOOL BOARD AT A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE TRUSTEES MONDAY NIGHT.

The morning paper then tells us that the present technical school in Vancouver was not built by the school authorities there, but merely leased from the provincial Government. That is true. The school authorities in Vancouver are paying no less than $12,000 a year for the rental of premises which do not belong to them. In addition to this, of course, there are the bills for operating and the usual overhead requirements.

The annual increased cost to the taxpayers of Victoria in return for the technical school which they are considering at the polls to-day would be, for overhead, $8,000 and, in respect of buildings and equipment, $9,425, or a total of $17,425. That is to say, for every thousand dollars of assessment there would be added to the yearly tax bill the paltry sum of forty-five cents.

Here are the facts as they apply to Vancouver and Victoria:

Vancouver has no technical school building of its own. It is paying $12,000 in rent for an adapted building belonging to the Government; beyond this it is footing the bill for all the overhead and cost of operation. It now is going to spend half a million dollars because the technical needs of its population require such a capital outlay.

Victoria has the opportunity of getting a technical school for $145,000, the Government paying the rest; but if it turns down the by-law to-day, in less than two years it will have to spend at least double that amount on new High School accommodation. It will get nothing from the Government for that project.

The proposal being submitted to the taxpayers to-day is economically sound and should be approved.

THE "JOBLESS MILLIONS" OF U.S.

"OUR JOBLESS MILLIONS." THIS IS the heading The Literary Digest uses for its leading article on the unemployment situation in the United States. It starts out by saying that "a few weeks ago we were startled that, in spite of a national prosperity that is the envy of the rest of the world, at least four million workers were jobless in the United States." The Digest quotes a number of newspapers and public men.

The official version of the situation—which is being subjected to much challenge—is given by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. He says: "The present slump in employment, while not so extensive or grave as the estimates which have been generally circulated, is nevertheless serious." Quite naturally the members of Congress in opposition to the Coolidge Administration have received the assurance of Mr. Davies with open scepticism; they accuse the Government of an attempt to minimize facts "because they mar the picture of 'Coolidge prosperity.'" Senator Simmons puts it this way: "It is the purpose of the Administration to make prosperity the slogan of the campaign. These agents of the department get busy to answer the arguments that the country is not prosperous. I want those figures from people not interested in discounting the facts." Senator Wagner, who fathered the resolution calling for an official pronouncement on the facts of the situation, reaffirms his belief that at least 4,000,000 American men and women are out of work. That is the estimate made by the Labor Bureau, Inc., of New York. "I believe we have nearer 5,000,000 than 2,000,000 people out of work; the total may run to 6,000,000," says Senator Smith of South Carolina.

The New York World's Washington correspondent quotes Senator Walsh of Massachusetts as saying to his republican colleagues: "The powers that be are now willing to admit some unemployment in this country. The army of unemployed has grown so it has become necessary to make some admissions. Big business is prosperous. Stock brokers flourish. But small business is deprest. How far are you going to squeeze the great middle class? The income-tax returns show that millionaires have increased by leaps and bounds. You are defending a prosperity that is enriching the few. You are facing certain death to the backbone of the country."

The Digest illustrates the article with the photograph of a bread-line in New York and a cartoon from The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the latter also picturing a long line of men waiting for admission to a free soup establishment.

All this is interesting to us in Canada; not that we can derive any satisfaction from the serious unemployment predicament which the neighboring republic is facing, but because conditions across the border so completely refute all the arguments in respect of this phase of American prosperity to which some people in this country for months past have been giving expression in a major key. Incidentally, of course, young Canadians who imagine that opportunities to make their fortune in the United States are greater than in Canada would do well to ponder over the situation reflected in The Literary Digest.

COMMUNITY LOYALTY

ON THE FIRST DAY OF NEXT MONTH the citizens of Kamloops will hold a gala day in celebration of the opening of their new community hotel. This is a five-story structure of steel and concrete and is described as fully modern from basement to roof garden.

The interesting point about this development in the Interior city is the speed with which its citizens subscribed the money themselves after they had made up their minds to go ahead with the project. It is just a year ago since the plan first took shape. A little over a month was taken in the consideration of pros and cons; then in June specifications were studied and tenders called for. Construction began in August and the finishing touches now are being put to the building. The cost is about $100,000—and it is all Kamloops capital.

Now the population of Kamloops is in the neighborhood of five thousand and the success which has attended this latest venture speaks volumes for the progressive spirit of that community. It ranks with the successful launching and operation of a canning factory about four years ago. A handful of citizens raised the capital for this and it has been so successful that the plant's equipment now is double its original capacity—and profits continue to grow from year to year.

As long as our British Columbia towns and cities manifest their faith in the future in this way we may look forward to steady progress. But unless our own people show their faith in a practical fashion, they can not expect the outsider to be particularly interested in the manifold opportunities we undoubtedly possess.

OFF THE TRACK

From The Calgary Herald

A BILLION DOLLAR INDUSTRY

From The Ottawa Citizen

In a signed article in the March issue of Natural Research, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, gives some striking information regarding United States tourist traffic in its relation to Canada.

He points out that if the volume of United States tourist traffic continues to grow at anything like its recent rate it will be only a matter of two or three years until the amount of money spent by Americans abroad will reach "the clossal sum of a thousand million dollars a year." For 1926, he says, the outlay of American holiday-seekers in other lands was roughly $761,000,000, or nearly twice the total collected in taxes by the Dominion government in an ordinary year.

Canada, lying right next door to the United States, with endless travel attractions, is in a matchless position, points out Mr. Stewart, to take advantage of this enormous tourist trade. Already our tourist business represents a big item, the expenditure of tourists in Canada amounting last year to about $260,000,000. The minister thinks that this huge total can be doubled in the next ten years, since no other country is so favorably situated to draw upon United States tourist traffic.

Clearly this is a trade worth cultivating and there are many proofs that communities and business men are waking up to the fact. In Ottawa—which ought to be a magnet for American holiday travelers—publicity effort towards attracting tourists will this year be more than twice as great as in any previous year, what with the activities of the civic committee and the Business Men's Association. This should bring hoped-for results. There is no reason why Ottawa should not share in the tourist harvest which the country as a whole will reap in unprecedented abundance during the next few years.

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

TOMB OF TIMUR THE LAME, at Samarkand, Turkestan, is a fit resting place for this renowned oriental conqueror. Timur died in 1405, was embalmed with rose water and musk, wrapped in linen, laid in an ebony coffin and placed in a sarcophagus of jasper. Time and earthquakes have left their mark on the tomb, but still the interior is beautiful with Turkish arabesques and inscriptions of gold.

WHY NOT?

To the Editor:—A technical school here would give the boy of limited means an opportunity to train himself for his battle in life. Why should he not have it here? Surely this community which last year voted to assume liabilities running into a million or more is not so foolish as to turn down the first project for real practical education we have had. If it is, what use is there of our young people remaining here? Let them take The Colonist's advice and go to Vancouver and help to build up that city.

IMPROPER FEEDING

To the Editor:—Please allow me to protest against the advice that is being given by the public school authorities in certain municipalities contiguous to Victoria, re the removal of tonsils and adenoids. Such advice is without the sanction of modern scientific medicine.

Enlargement of tonsils and adenoids are but the product of improper feeding and very rarely require surgical methods.

WILL BOOST COAL MINING

To the Editor:—There is every possibility of the coal mining industry of Vancouver Island receiving a tremendous impetus as the result of the decision of the Ministry of the Interior consenting to the adaptation of a public building and a Government steamship to the use of pulverized coal. In securing this concession, A. W. Neill, M.P., again demonstrates his great interest in the cause of labor affecting the whole of Canada and British Columbia especially. Considering that we imported 59,000,000 gallons of fuel oil during the first six months of 1927, which is equivalent to 600,000 tons of coal, and that the Ss. Mercer testing pulverized fuel on the round trip from the United States to Rotterdam and return saved three days' time and made a saving of thirty per cent, as compared with fuel oil, we have every reason to hope for great improvement in our coal trade. Seeing that nearly 50,000,000 tons of pulverized coal per annum is being used in the United States, of which amount 320,000 tons is being used in the neighboring state of Washington, gives cause to hope that greater results will be obtained from the use of Island coal owing to its much higher quality, and that the Island mining centres will again regain their old time prosperity, which must inevitably result in much business for the merchants of Vancouver Island and British Columbia generally.

SAVE THE LILY

To the Editor:—Now that the Spring season is here and wild flowers are to be found, may I put in a plea for the preservation of the wild lily—Erythrenium or Dog-tooth Violet—Adder's Tongue as the little flower is named by botanists? A few years ago the beautiful blossom, with its green mottled twin leaves, was a common sight, often bearing six flowers on one stem (I have heard of twelve) and often growing two feet in height. Note the difference now except in preserved paths, owing to careless plucking the flowers are or have deteriorated in size and beauty, as it does not seem generally known that the bulb dies when both leaves are picked, and even when only one leaf is pulled the lily does not bloom the next year, and by over-picking of the lilies without their leaves every year their size is getting smaller.

I live on a main road, and starting from last Sunday large bunches of lilies with their leaves are picked by almost everyone cycling or riding in a motor car, often loosely held by hot hands so that many are dead before even reaching a vase of water.

Will all who love nature help to preserve the sweetness and beauty of this country flower and also the handsome dogwood tree, by plucking carefully and in small quantities?

Thanking you for permitting me to take up your valuable space.

A NATURE LOVER.

Langford, March 5.

CLUB TO AID TURKEY TRADE

Province to Become Important Producer of Table Birds, Officials Believe

The poultry branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture reports the successful inauguration of a club to look after the interests of provincial turkey breeders. A remarkable feature of the new club is that two-thirds of the members are ladies. A breeders' directory is shortly being issued.

I. R. Terry, chief poultry instructor for B.C., who is acting secretary of the new organization, stated that already many hundreds of dollars have been kept in the Province for stock and eggs, now that buyers have found out that there are breeders of high class stock here. Many persons had been sending as far as Virginia, and Texas for eggs and stock in the past.

Day-old turkeys are now being shipped from B.C., just as is done with day-old chicks, Mr. Terry said.

BRITISH NOTE SENT TO EGYPT IS MADE PUBLIC

London Government Says It Will Continue to Provide Defence in Nile Country

London, April 5.—The British Government's reply to the Egyptian note of March 30, which was published here last night, reiterates Great Britain's determination to insist on the discharge of its responsibilities under the Declaration of 1922, since the Egyptian Government has rejected the treaty negotiated by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, and the former Egyptian Premier, Sarwat Pasha.

Great Britain thus reserves the right to protect its communications in Egypt, defend Egypt against foreign aggression and care for the rights of foreign residents and minorities in that country.

EGYPTIAN NOTE

The note of the new Egyptian Premier, Nahas Pasha, which was also made public by the Foreign Office, declared the British memorandum of March 4 assumed an attitude unacceptable to Egypt, which, it added, "cannot without a complete change of character give to intervening state the right of control over its own acts."

The Egyptian Government, said the note, could not admit the principle of intervention, which would be tantamount to its veritable abdication, and it furthermore declared Egypt was fully ready to watch over the security and tranquility of British subjects and other foreigners in Egypt.

LONG RECOGNIZED

Sir Austen Chamberlain, in the British reply, says the special relations between Britain and Egypt, the note continue, have long been recognized by the other powers, and Britain would regard interference of another power in Egyptian affairs as an unfriendly act. The note concludes that as Egypt has refused a treaty which Britain thought provided a settlement of the four reserved points, "the status quo ante continues and the position to-day is the same as when the Ramsay MacDonald-Zagloul negotiations broken down except in so far as modified by the notes exchanged in November, 1924. The reserved points remain reserved to the absolute discretion of His Majesty's Government, the Egyptian Government exercising its independent authority subject to satisfying His Majesty's Government of these matters."

NO BREAK FORESEEN

London, April 5.—A dispatch to The London Express from Cairo states Nahas Pasha, Egyptian Premier, told Egyptian newspapermen last night that there was no danger of any really serious development between his government and that of Great Britain, at least for the moment.

LEAVING INDIA

HAROLD G. BEALL

Harold G. Beall, former physical director of the local Y.M.C.A., is now on his way back from India, where he has spent the last thirteen years. He is returning with his wife and family and they will spend considerable time here with their parents.

The many friends here of both Mr. and Mrs. Beall will be interested in the following news item from the Calcutta Statesman:

"At the executive meeting of the Bengal Olympic Association, presided over by Sir R. N. Mookerjee, an announcement was made of the resignation of the joint honorary secretaries, A. E. Clarke and H. G. Beall, the former on account of pressure of business and the latter on his retirement from India. The loss of Mr. Beall will be keenly felt by nearly every athletic organization in Bengal.

"In the Autumn of 1915 Mr. Beall came to India and served in the Nizam's dominions for five and one-half years. He was chief inspector of physical education, organized the Hyderabad Athletic Association and the Secunderabad Interschools Sports Association. He introduced modern physical education into the State Schools.

"Mr. Beall later became director of physical education for all seven branches of the Calcutta Y.M.C.A. Besides conducting physical training classes, games and sports for boys, students and working men in nearly all these branches he helped to organize the Bengal Olympic Association and, at the request of the Government, the Corporation, Calcutta University and other institutions he prepared schemes for physical education."

HINKLER URGES MORE AVIATION BY AUSTRALIANS

Brisbane, Australia (By Mail).—Though Australians are proud of the great flight of Bert Hinkler, the Queensland airman, from Britain to Australia, they are scarcely less interested in the charming little episode of family life which was its other aspect. There was nothing official about the flight—no uniforms, no military receptions. Hinkler just got aboard his little Avian machine and flew from Britain across the world to a little cottage in Gavan Street, Bundaberg, Queensland, where his mother lives and where Hinkler used to dream about the day when he should become an airman. It was the simplicity of his idea, and the modest way in which he carried it out, that so appealed to his countrymen.

As the plane descended at Bundaberg the crowd, getting out of control, surged forward in the wildest enthusiasm. It was with difficulty that Hinkler's mother, sister and other members of the family were able to reach the aeroplane, where Hinkler was leaning out of the cockpit to greet them. After the landing there was an affecting scene as Mrs. Hinkler embraced her famous son. A moment later the crowd took possession of him and carried him shoulder high to a decorated lorry, while the band played "See the Conquering Hero Comes."

"CRAWLING ON THE EARTH"

Hinkler doesn't talk much, but in the course of his few speeches he has mentioned that the trip cost about £55, and has given an amusing account of his first impression of his native land seen from the air.

"I hope that as the result of my little trip from overseas aviation will receive an impetus and become more popular than before," he said. "It seems to me, when flying along, very unfortunate to see people crawling on the face of the earth."

Hinkler's mother was not forgotten when Premier Bruce, in granting Hinkler $10,000, and inviting him to a public reception at Canberra, also wired a cordial invitation to Mrs. Hinkler to be present as a guest of the Commonwealth.

Hinkler's flight was nearly 13,000 miles.

Children's Treats For Easter Day

By SISTER MARY

When the Easter bunny comes this year perhaps he'll delight the children with something quite new in Easter styles, particularly if he has "mother" co-operating with him in the kitchen.

Before Easter every egg that is used for cooking is carefully cracked and an opening made at the small end. The contents are then shaken out through the hole and the egg shell carefully rinsed and dried. These shells can be used for many purposes, such as molds for desserts, containers for candy, or Easter gifts or quaintly styled "Easter eggs."

An "eggs-tremely" clever idea for eggs prepared for the annual egg hunt is to write the children's names on the eggs. Even tiny persons unable to read experience quite a thrill to find their very own egg expressly prepared for them by the Easter bunny.

The trick of writing on eggs is simple. First choose white eggs, and hardboil them as usual. Then dye them in the ordinary commercial dyes, using light colors. And now comes the trick. Write the name on the egg with a stub pen dipped in melted wax or paraffine. When the wax hardens, dip egg into a dark colored dye which has been cooled. A hot dye would melt the wax. The name finally appears in the color the egg was first dipped in, while the egg itself is the color of the last dye.

The baskets provided for the small searchers in which to carry their eggs should be reasonably strong. It's a tragedy to have the handle pull out of one's basket, turning the precious "Easter eggs" into ill-fated "Humpty-Dumpties."

When eggs are hidden through the rooms of the house, paper nests are effective and not untidy.

CANDY IN EGGS

One of the most fascinating fashions in Easter eggs is that of filling an empty egg shell with tiny candy eggs or jelly beans. The shell is carefully dipped into dye, taking care that no dye gets inside the shell. After thorough drying, they are filled with the candy. The uncolored end is covered with gay paper of a contrasting color, pasted firmly over the hole to keep the candies in. The ends of the paper are fringed.

A most attractive Easter dessert is made by filling the empty egg shells with different colored gelatines. Liquid gelatine, colored and flavored as you please, is poured through the opening in the small end of the shell. A small funnel made of stiff paper is an aid in pouring the gelatine into the shell. Let the gelatine stand at least eight hours to become firm and very cold.

When ready to serve dip each egg into hot water. This melts the gelatine on the shell. Then crack shell in many places and remove. Pile the eggs on a chilled serving dish and serve with whipped cream. Variegated "eggs" can be made by using two or three different flavors and colors of gelatine in one shell. If you fill an egg shell with water, pour it out and carefully measure, so you will have a definite idea of how much gelatine to prepare for the number of eggs you want to fill.

Zinovieff Letter Affair Aired In House of Commons

London, (By Mail)—A London business man, a lifelong Conservative, solicitous for the welfare of his country when it was threatened by disruptive plots from Moscow, was brought into the limelight of British politics by Premier Baldwin as the man who gave The Daily Mail the famous Zinovieff letter which helped to swell the Conservative majority against the MacDonald Government in the general election of 1924.

The House of Commons rejected by 320 votes to 132 the Labor Party demand for inquiry under oath into the circumstances whereby the letter became a public sensation and the principal cause of the Baldwin Government's enormous majority in the Commons.

The London business man was Conrad Donald Im Thurn, whose father was governor of several crown colonies years ago and who is "a man of unblemished reputation," well known in London financial circles. His letter saying he sought to show the British voters the menace of Moscow when the MacDonald Government was about to lend Russia money was read by Premier Baldwin in the House of Commons as the answer to the Labor "back benchers'" insistence that some British civil servant, had betrayed MacDonald for political and perhaps financial motives.

The result of the debate is hailed by the Conservative press as the end of the Zinovieff affair. But Labor and Liberal circles assert that it will still dog the footsteps of the Conservative Party, particularly in the next general election, because some portion of the British public will be skeptical of the Government's explanation of the incident, which was characterized by Mr. MacDonald in the House as "a fraud perhaps unmatched in cool calculation and preparation in our political history."

Mr. MacDonald lent the dignity of a House of Commons assertion to reports which have been current sub rosa in London for many months. He recalled that several days before publication of the Zinovieff letter in a provincial newspaper, one in London predicted its coming. He refused to commit himself to an indictment of Government officials, but insisted that the "Marlowe letter," written by the former Daily Mail editor recently, made a governmental inquiry of the whole question necessary.

Premier Baldwin's answer was interrupted many times from the Labor benches. After he had read the letter of Mr. Im Thurn's taking responsibility for the Zinovieff letter coming to public view just before the election and praised The Daily Mail for its "patriotic service," one Labor member, Tom Williams, called out:

"It is a tissue of lies!"

When Mr. Williams refused to retract the Speaker ordered him to withdraw from the House, which he did.

The Government's refusal of an inquiry was based on two grounds: First, Mr. Baldwin declared that freedom of the press made it rediculous to try to force Mr. Marlowe to give the source of his information, particularly since The Daily Mail's publication of his letter was not a blow at Britain, but a "patriotic service." Second, the Zinovieff letter was not a State document inasmuch as it was sent by M. Zinovieff to the Communist Party in Britain, and anyone having knowledge of it had a right to give it to the press.

Mr. Baldwin indicated his belief that some Communist betrayed his own party. "A man who would be a traitor to his country would be a traitor to his fellows," he declared. Mr. Im Thurn's letter said he got his information "from a man closely in touch with the Communists."

J. H. Thomas read a statutory declaration made by Mrs. Baker, formerly in the service of Mrs. Bradley Dines, which contained statements in which the name of J. D. Gregory, Assistant Under Secretary in the Foreign Office, ordered dismissed because of speculation in French francs, was connected with the publication of the Zinovieff letter. This was a document which the board of inquiry into the "francs" case said they did not believe and which Premier Baldwin finally discredited in his statement.

The vote was practically according to party lines, but in view of Mr. Marlowe's letter saying he got two copies of the Zinovieff letter after hearing of four governmental departments where it was circulated, the Labor benches were still determined to hammer away with the question: "Did a Conservative civil servant betray MacDonald and would a Socialist Government, if again in power, face a similar danger?"

"POLLY WITH A PAST" COMING

Miss Hope Leeming to Head University Players' Club Cast

A play that ran a year in New York and then was most successful in London, is the offering of the Players' Club of the University of British Columbia, when they appear in Victoria at the Royal Victoria Theatre on May 7.

This delightful comedy has charmed Vancouver and other places where it has been presented to date, and is considered the best Players' Club production since "Green Stockings" in 1920. This is no mean tribute when one recalls the success of "Mr. Pim Passes By," "You and I" and Shaw's "Pygmalion" in recent years.

The cast is headed by Miss Hope Leeming of Victoria, sister of Miss Marjorie Leeming, Canadian tennis champion. As Polly, she has won the highest plaudits from coast critics. The Vancouver Sun remarked: "In a part which calls for rare technique and unusual powers of characterization, she acquits herself with great distinction."

Alfred Evans of Vancouver, the leading man, is a most capable actor, with a fine sense of pantomime. Others in the cast are Miss Frances Fowler of Riondel, Miss Dorothy Mole of Ladner, Misses Frances Madeley and Eileen Griffin of Vancouver, Mr. Eric North of Armstrong, Mr. William Masterson of New Westminster, Mr. John Billings, formerly of Fernie, and Messrs. D. Wodlinger, Sidney Risk and Archie Little of Vancouver.

As the play calls for elaborate staging, the settings have been so carefully designed that they won instant applause upon the rise of the curtain, from a Vancouver first night audience. The chic costumes are in keeping, and are the work of Vancouver's most exclusive shops. Brilliant acting and artistic staging make "Polly With a Past" a most finished production and an evening in the theatre long to be remembered.

BOND SALESMAN LEAVES FIVE-DAY BRIDE STRANDED

Former Vancouver Man Leaves Big Hotel Bill and Fools Detective

Seattle, April 5.—A five-day honeymoon terminated abruptly here yesterday when W. P. Hunter, describing himself as a bond salesman and a former major of the British Air Corps, suddenly disappeared.

He left behind him his bride, a sizeable unpaid hotel bill, a worthless cheque, and a wondering detective.

Trouble started when R. P. Clark & Company, a Vancouver, B.C., bond house, wired the hotel that Hunter was no longer associated with it. Summoned by the hotel management, Hunter asked time to raise the money to pay his bill. He was assigned a private detective as an escort.

But the escort did not last long for Hunter went in one door of a building and left by another while the detective continued to wait for him to come out the first door.

Mrs. Hunter, a former Spokane girl, said she would ask to have the marriage annulled.

VICTORIAN WINS TREATISE HONOR

Albert S. Whiteley, Student at University of B.C., Gets Recognition

Montreal, April 5.—In addition to the recent announcement that Demott A. Davies of the University of British Columbia had won the prize of $1,000 offered by the Royal Bank of Canada to the student in attendance at any Canadian university who submitted the best paper on one of several topics in connection with problems confronting Canada, Professor Stephen Leacock of McGill University announced six other papers had been chosen as the best of the fifty-eight submitted, and would be issued with that of Mr. Davies in booklet form by the bank.

In the list of six papers is one by Albert S. Whiteley of the University of British Columbia.

The judges were Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, and Dr. Adam Shortt and Dr. Skelton of Ottawa.

Dr. Davies will spend the 1928-29 college year at McGill University doing graduate work as a fellow of McGill.

Albert S. Whiteley is the son of Capt. and Mrs. W. H. Whiteley of this city and was educated at Victoria High School and Victoria College before he went to the Univeristy of British Columbia. At present he is in his fourth year at that university. Prior to entering the mainland institution, Mr. Whiteley taught school for three years in the northern interior of British Columbia. His scholastic career has been market with brilliancy.

Candies For Easter Baskets

There are certain candies that have a special Spring-time and Easter-like flavor which can be made by the mother who prefers home-made sweets for her children.

First in the list come maple creams. These can be shaped into tiny eggs to carry out the Easter idea. Cook two cups of fresh maple syrup to the soft-ball stage. This means that when two or three drops of the boiling syrup are dropped into a saucer of very cold water, the drops will hold their shape and can be picked up between the fingers in the water. Remove from fire and let stand undisturbed until cool. Beat until creamy and drop on waxed paper stretched on a molding board.

COCOANUT SQUARES

Cocoanut squares are a delicious and seasonable confection since they were made originally from fresh cocoanut. However, canned cocoanut can be used with good results, if fresh cocoanut is not at hand.

Crack a medium sized cocoanut and drain off the milk. Break the shell and remove the meat. Pare off the dark rind and put the cocoanut through the fine knife of the food chopper. There should be about three cupfuls of the finely chopped or grated cocoanut, and one-half cup cocoanut milk.

Put three cups light brown sugar, grated cocoanut, cocoanut milk, and a few grains of salt into a smooth saucepan. Cook over a low fire until mixture forms a soft ball when tested in cold water. When sugar has melted and syrup begins to boil, add one tablespoon butter and stir constantly until candy is "done." Let stand until cool, about lukewarm, and add one teaspoon vanilla. Beat until thick and creamy and pour into a buttered pan. Cut in squares and let stand until firm. This candy should not be cooled as much as maple creams before stirring.

CHOCOLATE CANDIES

Another candy that is very simple and easy to make is a chocolate concoction made with several kinds of chocolate. Two cups grated sweet milk chocolate, one-half cup grated sweet chocolate and one-half cup grated bitter baking chocolate are combined and melted over hot water. The water should be kept just at the boiling point under the chocolate for thirty minutes. Add one and one-half tablespoons butter, and stir until thoroughly blended. Remove from heat and add one cup English walnut meats broken into coarse pieces and one cup marshmallows cut into halves. Turn into a square buttered pan, spread to an even thickness, and cut in squares. Let stand twenty-four hours before removing from pan to serve.

Milky Glasses

Glassware that has contained milk should be soaked in cold water before putting into the dish water. If washed without, they are apt to be streaky.

CUPID WAS AMONG IMMIGRANT TIDE

Young Danish Couple Decide to Wed; Hasty Ceremony

Winnipeg, April 5—Venturing into the bewildering distances of the Canadian West merely as sweethearts proved too much for a young Danish couple, who arrived here to-day in the tide of immigrants that swept in from across the Atlantic. With the chances of separation looming up more and more as they proceeded West, both became an easier mark for Dan Cupid whose final triumph was a unique marriage ceremony performed in the immigration hall of the Canadian Pacific here.

Andrea Hansen, pretty twenty-one-year-old Danish immigrant, had known Niels Christian Nielsen away back in a little Norwegian town where binding promises had been made. When Andrea found that Niels was to be placed on a farm near Vulcan and she some distance away, she hadn't the heart to keep on refusing and a scurry took place to find a minister. Rev. N. Danskov, immigration chaplain, was soon located and his son dispatched to the nearest florist for a bouquet of flowers, the gift of company officials.

Company officials too played a highly important part in the ceremony, which was enacted in one of the smaller offices in the immigration hall. C. A. Van Scoy, superintendent of colonization for the Canadian Pacific, volunteered to be groomsman, while R. G. McNeillie, general passenger agent, gave the bride away.

Newspapermen and other officials of immigration department made up the balance of the group who witnessed the interesting ceremony. The young Danish couple were undoubtedly the centre of interest among some 400 other immigrants who came in by the same special to-day.

Among the large party were some 120 souls from Holland, who are going West from here to take up land in northern Alberta. The balance consisted of British farm laborers and newcomers from Norway and Sweden.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Vancouver, April 5—After twenty minutes' deliberation an assize court jury here yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Harold Langley of South Vancouver, tried on a charge of perjury arising out of a county court trial. Annie and Clarence Langley, wife and brother respectively of the accused appeared on the same charge, but a separate charge was ordered. The request of Philip S. Marsden, defence counsel, for prior trial of Annie Langley, was disallowed. With the return of the jury's verdict, J. Pitcairn Hogg, prosecutor, moved for a stay of proceedings against the latter two, and they were discharged by Mr. Justice Morrison.

WANTS BIBLE IN SAANICH SCHOOLS

Strawberry Vale W.I. Ask For Reading of It Without Comment

"We the members of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute by resolution passed to our regular meeting to-day, ask that the Saanich Council endeavor to have the Bible read, without comments of any kind, in the Saanich schools."

This resolution was passed at the meeting of the Institute held in the hall on Wilkinson Road on Tuesday afternoon and will be forwarded to other institutes in Saanich for their endorsation. Mrs. George Austin, the president, was in the chair.

A resolution from Colwood Women's Institute was discussed, which referred to a memorial to honor the late Mrs. Hoodless, the founder of women's institutes, and suggesting that it take the form of something useful, also that the date be as near February 19 as possible, that being the date of the first women's institute meeting.

TO VISIT SOLARIUM

Plans are under way for the members of Strawberry Vale and Royal Oak Institutes to visit the Solarium shortly. Mrs. Austin gave a gratifying report on the card party.

Mrs. Campbell awakened keen interest by her talk on rug making; in which she pointed out that not only good workmanship, but the blending of colors and clarity of design were essential to the making of an attractive rug. All necessary material can be obtained through the superintendent of women's institutes, thereby reducing the cost to the maker, also plans have been made for the sale of the rugs—there being a ready market for such home craft. A class will be formed in the near future under the auspices of the institute which will be open for any ladies interested in this work.

RUG EXHIBITION

Among the correspondence was a letter from Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, superintendent of women's institutes, which gave particulars of the old-fashioned rug and quilt exhibition to be held in Vancouver at an early date. Mrs. Campbell spoke on old age pensions and mothers' pensions, the members greatly appreciating her address.

Mrs. Geo. Jones served delicious refreshments, and a pleasant social half hour was enjoyed.

At the fortnightly card party held on Tuesday evening there were seven tables of players. Mr. Rose won first gentlemen's prize; Mr. Laycock, consolation; Mrs. Alvery won first ladies' prize and Mrs. Girton consolation. Refreshments were served by the committee. The next card party will be held on Tuesday, April 17, at 8 o'clock.

The "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE
Author of "The Benson Murder Case"

"Things are breaking fine and dandy," he announced when we had sat down. He himself was too elated to relax, and stood before Markham's desk rolling a large black cigar between his fingers. "We got the Dude—6 o'clock yesterday evening—and got him right. One of the C. O. boys, named Riley, who was patrolling Sixth Avenue in the Thirties, saw him swing off a surface car and head for McAnerny Pawn Shop. Right away, Riley wig-wags the traffic officer on the corner, and follows the Dude into McAnerny's. Pretty soon the traffic officer comes in with a patrolman, who he's picked up; and the three of 'em nab our stylish friend in the act of pawning this ring."

He tossed a square solitaire diamond in a filigreed platinum setting on the district attorney's desk.

"I was at the office when they brought him in, and I sent Snitkin with the ring up to Harlem to see what the maid had to say about it, and she identified it as belonging to Odell."

"But, I say, it wasn't a part of the jewelry the lady was wearing that night, was it, Sergeant?" Vance put the question casually.

Heath jerked about and eyed him with sullen calculation.

"What if it wasn't? It came out of that jimmied jewel-case—or I'm Ben-Hur."

"Of course, it did," murmured Vance, lapsing into lethargy.

"And that's where we're in luck," declared Heath, turning back to Markham. "It connects Skeel directly with the murder and the robbery."

"What has Skeel to say about it?" Markham was leaning forward intently. "I suppose you questioned him."

"I'll say we did," replied the sergeant; but his tone was troubled. "We had him up all night giving him the works. And the story he tells is this: He says the girl gave him the ring a week ago, and that he didn't see her again until the afternoon of day before yesterday. He came to her apartment between four and five—you remember the maid said she was out then—and entered and left the house by the side door, which was unlocked at that time.

"He admits he called again at half past nine that night, but he says that when he found she was out, he went straight home and stayed there.

"His alibi is that he sat up with his landlady till after midnight playing Khun Khan and drinking beer. I hopped up to his place this morning, and the old girl verified it. But that don't mean anything. The house he lives in is a pretty tough hang-out, and this landlady, besides being a heavy boozer, has been up the river a coupla times for shoplifting."

"What does Skeel say about the finger-prints?"

"He says, of course, he made 'em when he was there in the afternoon."

"And the one on the closet door-knob?"

Heath gave a derisive grunt.

"He's got an answer for that, too—says he thought he heard some one coming in, and locked himself in the clothes-closet. Didn't want to be seen and spoil any game Odell mighta been playing."

"Most considerate of him to keep out of the way," drawled Vance. "Touchin' loyalty, what?"

"You dont believe the rat, do you, Mr. Vance?" asked Heath, with indignant surprise.

"Can't say that I do. But our Antonio at least spins a consistent yarn."

"Too damn consistent to suit me," growled the sergeant.

"That's all you could get out of him?" It was plain that Markham was not pleased with the results of Heath's third degree of Skeel.

"That's about all, sir. He stuck to his story like a leech."

"You found no chisel in his room?"

Heath admitted that he hadn't.

"But you couldn't expect him to keep it around," he added.

Markham pondered the facts for several minutes.

"I can't see that we've got a very good case, however much we may be convinced of Skeel's guilt. His alibi may be thin, but taken in connection with the phone operator's testimony, I'm inclined to think it would hold tight in court."

"What about the ring, sir?" Heath was desperately disappointed. "And what about his threats, and his finger-prints, and his record of similar burglaries?"

"Contributory factors only," Markham explained. "What we need for a murder is more than a prima facie case. A good criminal lawyer could have him discharged in twenty minutes, even if I could secure an indictment. It's not impossible, you know, that the woman gave him the ring a week ago—you recall that the maid said he was demanding money from her about that time.

"And there's nothing to show that the finger-prints were not actually made later Monday afternoon. Moreover, we can't connect him in any way with the chisel, for we don't know who did the Park Avenue job last Summer. His whole story fits the facts perfectly; and we haven't anything contradictory to offer."

Heath shrugged helplessly; all the wind had been taken out of his sails.

"What do you want done with him?" he asked desolately.

Markham considered—he, too, was discomfited.

"Before I answer I think I'll have a go at him myself."

He pressed a buzzer, and ordered a clerk to fill out the necessary requisition. When it had been signed in duplicate, he sent Swacker with it to Ben Hanlon.

FIRE DEPARTMENT COSTS OUTLINED

Estimates totaling $19,240, including salaries for one year, for the establishment of a fire department in Oak Bay, were submitted at a special meeting of the council last night by the American LaFrance Fire Engine and Foam Limited of Vancouver.

The company's estimates were turned over to a fire department committee for further consideration. Costs outlined in the estimates were: Bungalow type fire hall, $3,500; 400-imperial gallon triple combination pumping engine, chemical engine and hose wagon, $7,250 f.o.b. Oak Bay; 1,500 feet of 2½-inch hose, $2,550; four full-pay men including the chief at a total salary of $5,940. Fire alarms could be sent in by telephone, it was stated and a tax-reverted lot used as the site for the fire hall.

TAX RATE

The council dealt with a fairly large agenda at its special meeting, by-laws setting the tax rate for this year at twenty-six mills and the authorized expenditure at $297,687 being given first reading during the evening. A by-law was passed cancelling three and one-third years' levies on a local improvement affecting North Hampshire Road and Monterey and Brighton Avenues.

Preparation of local improvement by-laws to provide for the construction of tar macadam surfacing on Wealt Road at a cost of $10,000, on Upper Terrace Road at a cost of $9,800, and on Uplands Road at a cost of $10,000 was ordered following recommendations by the municipal engineer along this line. These roads will be equipped with concrete curbing, sewer and water mains.

A grant of $100 towards the expense of the Vancouver Island Spring Flower Show this month was authorized.

MARK HAMBOURG THRILLS AUDIENCE

Great Pianist Given Ovation For Brilliant Performance

One of the outstanding musical events of the Winter concert season was the recital by Mark Hambourg, given last evening in the auditorium of the First Baptist Church. There was a large, distinguished and thoroughly enthusiastic audience present and the programme selected for the occasion was most interesting and of unusual prodigal proportions.

It opened with the "Sonata in A flat," Opus. 26 (Beethoven), which contains the famous Funeral March, and included six Chopin numbers, the "Der Wanderer" Fantasia in C Major (Schubert-Liszt), and a group—the first—of six "moderns."

What a master is Mark Hambourg! There evidently are no difficulties for this super-pianist. If musical problems exist then his listeners know not of them, so secure, so confident, so perfect of technique is he, and so simple does it all seem in this wizard of the keyboard. He is about the most dazzling and compelling pianist of the age, and he gathers his listeners so completely to himself that he carries them in satisfaction and agreeableness, and in mood and urge everywhere he chooses to lead them. Under his agile fingers stupendous intricacies are as nought, everything runs along so dexterously and with such amazing facility and power that leaves his hearers wondering, astounded.

And yet this is not all; he plays with rare elegance and a conception as suffuse as sunlight. His is the quintessence of musical sensibility. As an instance, what divine and masterly restraint was his in the "Funeral March" of the Beethoven Sonata, and what may well be described as a cathedral of sound in such as in the superb rendering of the colossal Schubert-Liszt "Fantasia in C Major" (Der Wanderer), a musical achievement under his sure fingers, alive and palpitating, in the richness of musical endeavor, at the conclusion of which the most delightful and vociferous applause burst from those present, the master being brought five times to the platform.

And again in the final number, a veritable tour de force, the "Campanella," by Liszt-Busoni, was there the same characteristic. This was a brilliant display of virtuosity, equalled by few pianists of the present day. A tremendous demonstration, too, followed this, and Mr. Hambourg, evidently under the spell of his own playing, as much as were his listeners, gave two additional numbers, Chopin's "Prelude in F major" and Percy Grainger's splendid and popular arrangement which, by the way, must have proved a delightful lesson in interpretation to the many pianists present—the "Country Dance" (Pick Up the Handkerchief).

The six Chopin numbers were further convictions of the player's elegance of style, the variety of his tonal colors and his beautiful and remarkable phrasing. The Two Majurkas and the Two Etudes contrasting and deft in the master's hands, were alluring and charming. The C sharp Scherzo was a sparkling joy.

In the modern group, all demanding the greatest power of interpretation, there were some of the happiest moments possible. Delightfully and carefully selected, contrasting beautifully were such as the lovely "Berceuse" (Barazzo-Netto); the most humorous "Polichinelle," by the Brazilian composer, Villa Lobos, in which poor Judy fares the worst as usual; the substituted Ravel number, the graceful "Seguidillas" (Albenz), and the formidable "Campanella," already mentioned, all of which met with the most enthusiastic acclamations of a thoroughly enraptured and appreciative audience.

TWO MALE VOICE CHOIRS COMPETE

Arion Club and Victoria Male Chorus Seek Festival Honors

Victoria's two male voice choirs will again meet in competition on Saturday evening, April 14 in the final concert of the Musical Festival with the Knights of Pythias shield at stake. The well known and ever popular Arion Club under the direction of Herbert Kent will endeavor to retain the trophy which they won at the festival last year, while Frederic King who has recently taken over the baton will direct the Victoria Male Voice Chorus, a comparatively new organization. There was a margin of only a few points between these choirs last year and rivalry promises to be just as keen this year.

The twe test pieces in this class, "A Lullaby" and "The Phantom Host" offer great contrasts. While both are unaccompanied, the latter is a very fine descriptive work calling for intensive study and rehearsal upon the part of the contestants.

These choirs will also be competing for the "Nichol" shield which will be awarded to the adult choir gaining the highest marks in the festival and which is at present held by the Schubert Club of this city.

Another choral competition which should attract considerable interest in the Saturday evening concert will be the finals in the senior public school choir class when the test numbers "Merry Winds of Springtime" and "Maybells of the Flowers" will be sung by the choirs selected from the preliminary competition by the adjudicator.

Reserved seats are now on sale at the festival office, 1623 Douglas Street and owing to th large audience which is expected to attend the final concert, those wishing to be sure of accommodation are urged to make application without delay

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

FEARS GROW BY WHAT THEY FEED UPON

Thoughtless adults and teasing children seem to find a great source of amusement in telling the young child stories which literally make his eyes stick out. "You'd better watch out young lady," says fun-loving (?) uncle, "for if you don't mind your mother she'll go away some time and never come back." You've heard that one, I know.

"Stay away from the corner, Mamie, there's a big giant who eats up little girls."

The child's obvious terror is terribly funny to these short-sighted individuals. They figure, of course, that the child can't possibly believe such nonsense, and it is fun to make him shiver and shake.

Some day after a mild scolding for some childish misdemeanor the mother may start out for an afternoon of recreation and she is annoyed and angered when the child screams hysterically: "You'll go away and never come back."

"But I'm only going to Mrs. Hawkins to sew, and I'll be back at dinner time," persists mother. But it isn't any use. The child continues to cry herself sick.

Children waken in the night and scream remembering the fearful threats. It is too horrible to contemplate, for sensitive children are driven almost insane from fright, and then are spanked, when parents can't talk them out of the very fears they have instilled.

Such methods of child discipline belong to the dark ages, and yet there are unenlightened parents who are still guilty of them.

Children don't think these things up, though some parents would have you believe they did. Fears are not sprung fullgrown from nothing. It is the threats of punishments, the telling of wierd and terrible stories, the thoughtless, cruel remarks made by adults without a trace of imagination, which plant the seeds of fear and terror in the child whose lack of experience and knowledge of the world make him a helpless and gullible victim.

BREAKS LIKELY TO DECIDE SERIES

Very Little To Choose Between Clubs Facing Hockey Test To-night

Montreal Maroons Have Better Reserve Strength Than New York Rangers, Which May Be Factor in Outcome of World's Series; Maroons Also Have Edge in Goal; Rangers Have Best Defence and Their Regular Forwards Work Well Together; Much Will Depend Upon Penalties

Unless the signs in the sky are wrong the world's hockey series which opens to-night in Montreal between the New York Rangers and the Montreal Maroons, promises to be one of the most hectic struggles in the long and honorable history of Stanley Cup competion. The teams involved resemble one another very closely, being big and powerful, and there should be some very strenuous battling before the series terminates.

"No team is stronger than its reserve line" is a very familiar ery, and this appears, on paper at least, to be sufficient to give the Montreal club a slight advantage going into the series. The Maroons have a very fine list of substitutes, although there is no use trying to detract from the ability of some of the youngsters of the Rangers.

GOOD LEADERSHIP

Both clubs can bank on brilliant leadership. The Montreal Maroons are led by Eddie Gerard, former Ottawa player, who built up a great reputation as a defence man. Illness forced him to give up active playing while he was at the top of his form. Gerard has had good success with the Maroons in the four years he has had them in tow. The first year the club found its feet and the second season landed the world's championship by defeating the Victoria Cougars. Last year they were eliminated in the play-offs by Canadiens.

The Rangers have the smartest manager of all watching them, Lester Patrick, Victoria's hockey pride. Lester has had so much to do with hockey that it would take a couple of pages to tell all about him. In recent years, however, he has always been in the forefront, and this is his third world's series in four years. In New York they consider him a miracle man, as he took a team with only three regular stars and made it into a championship squad. The Rangers last year had a green goalie, an untried defence and unknown subs, but they proved a sensation from the start.

A COMPARISON

A comparison of the playing ability of the two teams is of interest.

There is no question but that Maroons have the edge in the goal-keeping position. Clint Benedict, always at his best when there is big money at stake, is almost invincible. Although far up in years he is very active, and his great experience results in his beating young forwards out of goals. Lorne Chabot, the Rangers' goalie, is spending his second year in pro company. He has certainly held up his end for the Rangers this year, but he may find the strain of the big series a bit trying on him.

On the defence the Rangers probably hold the edge because of Ching Johnson's scoring ability. The Rangers have the toughest, huskiest pair of defence men in the game, Johnson and Taffy Abel, while Leo Bourgault is a sweet relief man. Against this trio the Maroons pit "Red" Dutton, well-known here, Babe Siebert, formerly a forward, and Dunc Munro. These boys throw a fine protection around Benedict, but they are not as good at getting goals as the Rangers' defence men. Johnson is the star of both defences.

GOOD FORWARDS

On the forward line both teams are well fortified. The Rangers probably work better together and score more often, but the Maroons are rugged and hard back-checkers. Bill Cook, Frank Boucher and Bunny Cook are hard to beat, while against them the Maroons will pit Jimmy Ward, former Fort William amateur; Hooley Smith and Nels Stewart. Smith is the star of the Maroons. He cost them $22,500 this year. He is very aggressive, and while not a great goal-getter is extremely expert at making openings, passing the puck and on the defence. In the series with Canadiens Smith effectively bottled up the dynamic Howie Morenz and kept him from scoring. Smith, however, will find a very crafty general opposed to him in Boucher, who wrecks attacks and is the finest passing centre in the game to-day.

It is in reserve strength that the Maroons have a distinct edge. They have Joey Lamb, star amateur of last year; Russell Oatman, whose goal beat Canadiens in the play-offs, and Bill Phillips. This trio is as good as some of the regular forward lines of other clubs in the N.H.L. In additions the Maroons also have Brown.

The Rangers cannot match this reserve strength. Gray, Boyd, Murdock and Thompson are their subs, and while they are coming along and have scored many timely goals for the Rangers they are not up to the calibre of the opposing reserve line. Gray gives promise of developing into one of the finest forwards in the game, while Thompson, a youngster, is a coming star.

PENALTIES MAY DECIDE ISSUE

It seems that the Maroons have the edge in goal and in reserve strength, while the Rangers have the best defence and just a little the best of the forward line. It is a toss-up just how the series will go, but it is a pretty safe bet that the team which gets the most penalties is just about sure to lose. Penalties at critical times may decide the issue. Both teams are capable of pulling down all the penalties in the world. They are powerful and aggressive, and if they get beyond control anything might happen.

And don't forget that there will be such things as "lucky breaks."

If you asked either of the managers how the series would go they would probably answer: "The team that gets the breaks will win."

Lestergram On Eve Of Big Hockey Tilt

"We arrived in Montreal this morning. Outside of a few minor injuries and bruises Rangers are in good condition and at peak of form. We are confident of giving good account of ourselves. Please extend thanks to Victoria fans for their continued interest."

MAY NOT HOLD ALL GAMES ON MONTREAL ICE

Detroit and Boston Make Bid For New York's Home Games in Series

Rangers and Maroons Are in Good Shape For Opening Game To-night

Montreal, April 5—The New York Rangers arrived here to-day in readiness for their hockey game to-night with the Montreal Maroons. The champions of the United States division of the National Hockey League are in good condition and ready to make a big bid to take the historic Stanley Cup to the Eastern United States for the first time.

The second game of the series will be played here on Saturday night. The series is one of five games, but finished when one of the teams win three victories.

The Rangers, driven from home by a circus in Madison Square Garden, had previously announced they would play their "home" games here, but both Boston and Detroit have made offers of rinks for the match and a definite announcement is expected to-day or to-morrow as to the place of the games.

Maroons came out of the gruelling series with Canadiens in fair shape. Some of the players are nursing cuts and bruises, but nothing of a serious nature.

The Stanley Cup has spent only one year in the United States. In 1917 the Seattle team, having won the championship of the Pacific Coast League, defeated Montreal Canadiens for the cup. Last year Boston made a strong bid for the title, but were nosed out by Ottawa Senators after a hard struggle.

TWO OUTSIDE SOCCER TEAMS TO PLAY HERE

Four Games Carded For To-morrow; Rennies Meet Chemainus in First Game

All-star Team Will Play St. Saviour's of Vancouver in Afternoon; Other Games

Two outside soccer teams will perform to-morrow against local clubs. In the morning at 11 o'clock Rennie & Taylors, champions of the Wednesday League, will meet Chemainus at the Royal Athletic Park, while at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon, a local "rep" eleven will take on St. Saviour's, of Vancouver.

In addition to these two matches one junior and one juvenile game will be played in the morning. At Beacon Hill commencing at 10.30 o'clock Esquimalt and the Bapcos juniors will meet in an O. B. Allan Cup final. These teams will play for the right to meet the Mainland champions.

At Central Park Victoria City and Esquimalt juveniles are scheduled to meet at 11 o'clock in a Provincial Cup-tie.

CHEMAINUS PAY FIRST VISIT

Rennies will field their strongest possible team for the game with Chemainus. The Up-Islanders are making their first visit to Victoria and are reputed to have a good team. They have beaten several local clubs who have made the trip Up-island this year.

Keen interest is being taken in the afternoon soccer game between St. Saviour's and the all-star Victoria eleven. The Mainlanders have a good reputation while local soccer officials have picked a strong team to represent the city.

In goal St. Saviour's will have Alsbury, who is rated as one of the best on the Mainland. On the back line will be Constoble and Hendry, two sound and reliable kickers. Their half-back line will be composed of Purss, O'Neill and Donnelly, one of the steadiest lines playing in B.C. Their forward line will be composed of Archie Sinclair, Ernie Bradbury, Fred Roots, Bob Coulter and Alex. Sneddon. Bradbury, the centre-forward, is the youngest centre playing senior football in Vancouver. He went to St. Saviour's from a juvenile eleven.

The Victoria all-star team will be as follows: Goal, Bridges (Esquimalt); fullbacks, Tuckwell (Five C's) and Allan (Victoria West); halfbacks, Hosmer (Esquimalt), Bob Preston (Victoria City) and J. Peden (Victoria West); forwards, Stewart (Esquimalt), John Watt (Esquimalt), Boyd (Esquimalt), T. Smith (Victoria City) and Mulcahy (Victoria West).

Rennie & Taylor will line up as follows: Lomas, Gilbert, Tupman, Rutledge, Wright, Stewart, Taylor, Hay, Speak, Purdy and Davies.

Other line-ups:

Esquimalt Juniors—Chalmers, Sweeney, Woolcock, Williams, Smith, Stewart, Banks, Vickers, Nicol, Burnett, Hicks, Thompson, Bain and Smith.

German Ring Title Changes Hands And Peruvian Also Loses

Berlin, April 5.—MacSchmelling, European light heavyweight boxing champion last night won the German heavyweight championship by outpointing Franz Diemer, the champion in fifteen rounds.

Buenos Ayres, April 5.—Miguel Bonangli of Italy scored a technical knockout over Alex Hely, negro light heavyweight of Peru and champion of South America in the ninth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout here last night. After Hely had been floored repeatedly by the hard-hitting Italian, the refere stopped the bout.

Detroit, April 5.—Eddie "Kid" Wagner of Philadelphia and Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, were matched yesterday for a ten-round bout to be held at the Olympia Arena here April 17. The articles of agreement stipulate that Wagner must weigh in over the lightweight limit, making the bout a non-championship affair.

Wilmington, Cal., April 5.—Paul de Hate, Compton, Cal., welterweight, won over Pat Corbett of Oakland, by a technical knockout in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout here last night.

A Davis Cup Ace —By Jimmy Thompson

The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association has issued a list of ranking. Canadian tennis stars and placed Jack Wright, popular McGill whirlwind, at the top of it. Among United States ranking players Jack now stands in the very enviable seventh position, and it would be a daring man who would say that he has yet reached the top of his form. Jack delivers a service which forces his adversary away back to receive, and then rushes in to the net to take the return at the volley or half volley, angling off the ball for placements that are impossible to reach. As a net player in doubles, too, his work is often positively dazzling, a fact which, coupled with his invariable good humor and sportsmanship, make him a great favorite with any gallery he performs before. Grouped with Willard Crocker, likewise of Montreal, Dr. Arthur Ham and Gilbert Nunns, both of Toronto, he will, it is anticipated, lead Canada to victory in her first Davis Cup round next Summer, in which the Canucks will meet the winner of the Japan-Cuba play-off.

Frank J. Johnson, Thirty-nine-year-old Steelworker, Drops Out of Coast-to-coast Marathon With Sore Legs, Cracked Lips, Blistered Nose and a Great Hunger; Mrs. Johnson Says She Can't Prepare Enough Food for Him; Developed a "Shin Splint"; Arne Souminen Continues to Lead in Elapsed Time; Peter Gavuzzi Finished First Yesterday

Granite City, Ills., April 5.—After 900 miles competition in the Pyle coast-to-coast marathon, Frank J. Johnson, thirty-nine-year-old steelworker, is home with cracked lips, blistered nose, sore legs and a great hunger.

"You may think he's healthy," Mrs. Johnson said, "but that's just sunburn that makes him look that way. He's hollow from head to heels. I've been cooking for him and feeding him, and I can't prepare enough food for him.

"You should have seen him when he got home Monday. His left ankle was swollen to twice its natural size. His lips were cracked so badly that they bled when he tried to eat. His nose was blistered and he hobbled like a cripple."

GRIND TOO HARD

Johnson said he was all right when he quit except for my feet and legs. "I developed a 'shin splint,' which is a pulling of the leaders in the front of the leg, caused by the drawing of muscles during downhill runs," he said. "This went on for ten days, finally forcing me out."

"I believe I'd have continued if a trainer had been available to treat the blisters and stiffness."

Vega, Texas, April 5.—Thirty-five-mile jaunt to Amarillo, Texas, to-day confronted the ninety-one runners and walkers remaining in the Los Angeles to New York race.

With 1,152 miles covered, Arne Suominen of Detroit, continues to lead in elapsed time. His mark of 189.45.10 was more than five hours better than that of Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., who has held second place for some time.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., led in the 37.3 mile trek from Glen Ria, N.M., yesterday in 5.14.19, only twenty seconds ahead of Ollie Wantinen of New York. Souminen was third in 5.34.40.

The leaders in elapsed time:

Arne Suominen, Detroit, 189.45.10.

Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 195.49.42.

Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., 196.54.41.

John Cronick, Saskatoon, 215.50.35.

John Salo, Passaic, N.J., 217.22.50.

Ed. Gardner, Seattle, 218.37.56.

Only Toronto Or Ottawa Can Deal With Grads Stars

Toronto, April 5.—The possibility of Dave Trottier, Hugh Plaxton and Dr. Joe Sullivan, members of the Varsity Grads, Canadian Olympic champions, turning professional is of little concern to the Montreal Maroons, says The Mail and Empire to-day.

According to The Mail, Trottier, rated the most finished player in amateur hockey and the best professional prospect of the three, has been allotted to the Ottawa or Toronto clubs, these clubs being the only ones who can talk business with him. The decision regarding Trottier, says The Mail, was reached at a meeting of the National Hockey League governors.

Local Riders in First Class Condition; Two Handicap Events to Be Staged

With Jim Davies coming from Vancouver to defend his honors the annual ten-mile bicycle race for the Penwill Cup will be staged to-morrow morning at Beacon Hill. The riders will get started at 11 o'clock with Chief of Police Fry acting as starter. Alderman James Adam will present the prizes to the winners following the races.

All the local boys have been training faithfully, and hope to cop first place honors. Great encouragement is due to Bill Gelling and R. Jackson, two new riders, who are entering in the senior event. These boys are making their first appearance in senior competition, and are to be admired for tackling such stiff opposition.

Entries will be received up till 6 o'clock to-night at any bicycle dealer.

The entries are as follows:

Braves Will Be Better, Promises Manager

Fiery Rogers Hornsby Puts New Life In Boston Aggregation

The Boston Braves should be one of the most improved ball clubs in the National League. That's the way Jack Slattery, the new manager, sizes up the situation.

Of course the big factor is Hornsby. No other player in baseball could have given the impetus to a seventh-place club that has set it anxious for the bell of opening day.

The entire club is hustling and a good deal of the credit should go to Rogers Hornsby. Slattery has assigned Hornsby to helping him in weeding out the candidates for the regular positions and the slugging Texan is giving as much to the Braves as he ever did to a club in the thick of a pennant fight. But that is the kind of stuff that makes a Hornsby.

The addition of Catcher Zach Taylor, obtained from the Giants, is another stroke of luck for Slattery. Taylor's acquisition has remedied the most gaping hole on the club and fills out the important positions, those in a direct line from home plate to centre field, in great style.

The Giant cast-offs are really the backbone of the Braves. Hornsby and Farrell, around second base, give Boston the double play combination ever essential to a winning ball club. Slattery thinks a great many games were lost last year by one or two runs, and with such a keystone equipment as the team now boasts, that worry will be wiped off the runways this season.

The other position in that line from home plate to centre field is well taken care of by Eddie Brown, whom Slattery thinks is one of the greatest outfielders in the league. His only weakness is in throwing, but Ed counteracts that defect by the intelligent way he roams his pasture.

Pitching will be the problem for the Brave chieftain to face. Kent Greenfield, another Giant cast-off, and ace of the staff, is already in shape to work six innings. Much is expected of him in the coming campaign, but the ones that Slattery is particularly anxious about are Smith, Cooney and Genewich.

If these four pitchers should get off to a good start and keep the pace for the season, there is no telling how high the Braves will go in the race. Back in 1914, the team showed no greater promise than it does this Spring and no one will ever forget that skyrocket clip that brought that club to a pennant and world championship.

Joseph Brandt and Arthur Delaney, Coast League pitchers last year, are two of the recruits who have caught the manager's eye.

First base is officially in the possession of Dick Burrus. Jack told Richard that he would have no competitors for the job and to go out and hustle. Lester Bell, formerly of the St. Louis Cardinals, is slated for third base and should be a great help to the infield.

Lance Richbourg will be in right field when the season opens and left field will go to either Jack Smith, Former Cardinal, or Eddie Moore, a reformed second baseman. Smith is getting along in years, but can still massage the old onion, while Moore has shown much improvement since entering this new field.

Looking Backward In Coast Boxing

Leo Lassen, one of the Seattle sport scribes, happened to drop in on a boxing fanning bee in his home town recently, and one of those who was participating in the discussion was Joe Bayley of Victoria. Lassen has the following to say:

"Even as the old troupers linger about the stage and its properties, whispering in the wings of their 'Hamlets' and 'Juliets' of days long fled, so do those actors in the drama of sports cling to the environment of their former triumphs, reviewing vocally those hours of their athletic heydays.

"And the ring is no exception.

"Slightly more than a decade ago the name of Joe Bayley was a byword in the fight circles of the Northwest.

"He had his fling of glory, his highest attainment being the lightweight championship of Canada.

"And then he slipped from the picture, as even the greatest of fighters will, and to the newer order of ring fans Joe Bayley is only a name.

"But those fans who sat about the local ringside while Bayley was in his prime will tell you that there was a real boy with the gloves.

"Bayley, still a young man in years, on the sunny side of forty, but old as age goes in the ring, has deviated from time to time from the presence of the ring, but the smell of resin, the sound of swishing gloves and the sight of gladiators punching, ducking, feinting, are too much for him. The lure of the ring is in his blood and Bayley has come back to the one thing he knows—boxing.

* * *

"No, not as a fighter, for when he tried one of those futile comebacks and got no more than a draw three years ago in Victoria, B.C., with some green youngster, Bayley decided that his day as a boxer was over.

"But he is back in the thick of things as a manager.

"Bayley has Tommy Fielding, a likely 130-pound boy from the Vancouver Island city, under his wing.

"Bayley talks but little about his new charge before the conversation drifts back fifteen years ago when he was in one corner and the Ernie Barrieaus, the Eddie Pinkhams, the Johnny O'Learys and the like were in the other.

"That's inevitable with the fellows who have once climbed the heights and who have passed down the other side of the hill.

* * *

"Like other fellows who look backward on former days, Bayley's perspective may be slightly warped and likewise warmed by time. You'll hear old-timers say that there never will be another Stanley Ketchell nor another Jim Jeffries.

"Time paints an entrancing canvas.

"'I can't understand what is the matter with the present generation of boxers,' says Bayley. 'They're right-hand-nutty. I was that way myself until I broke my right arm, and for the first time I realized what my left could do.

"'The most important fight I ever had was with Ernie Barrieau. Some $10,000 had been bet on me to stop him in ten rounds.

"'We came into the tenth and, while I thought I had an edge, I didn't see how I could stop him. I had punched him with my right hand until it ached. And then, in the tenth, I switched and landed a left hook and saved that coin for my backers. I'll never forget that one.'

* * *

"O'Leary was the best of the boys Bayley met for sheer fighting ability. They fought three times, O'Leary winning once and the other two bouts going to draws.

"'He used to try to talk me out of the bouts,' says Bayley, 'and what's more, he could back up his conversation.

"'"Have you ever seen this punch, Joe?" O'Leary would ask, and then let go with a wicked uppercut. O'Leary had the makings of a great fighter, but beat himself. They don't come along like him very often.

"'Pinkham was the hardest puncher, but was a one-hand fighter, and if he could have done anything with his left would have gone much farther.

"'These short fights ruin boxing,' says Bayley. 'The kids get in there and slug. Body punching is almost a lost art, and so is feinting. No wonder the Northwest youngsters don't go far when they are matched with the boys used to the long routes in the East. No fight under ten rounds is a test.'

"Where there was once a host of great lightweights and welterweights hereabouts, there are only a few boys who are real main eventers.

"The lure of big purses elsewhere soon weans the boys away from their native rings and, where the Bayleys, the O'Learys and their contemporaries once thrilled the ringsiders with real boxing, the present crop of maulers clown through six rounds. With one or two exceptions, the main eventers in the Northwest now would have been honored to carry the towel into the ring for the headliners in the day of Joe Bayley."

Bobby Cruickshank Takes One Stroke Lead Over Mehlhorn

Richmond, Va., April 5—Bobby Cruickshank, the "wee Scot" from Purchase, N.Y., took the lead at the half-way mark of the Richmond open golf tournament yesterday, finishing with 72-70—142 to stand one stroke ahead of "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, of Pittsburgh, who set a new course record of 69, two under par, for 143.

Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City, and Anthony Longo, Mount Vernon, N.Y., were tied for third place with 146, while fourth place was claimed by four golfers. Tony Manero of New York; Roland Hancock of Wilmington, N.C.; Emmett French, of Southern Pines, N.C., and Al. Espinosa of Chicago, each with 147.

Joe Kirkwood, the former Australian trick shot artist and now Albany, Ga., professional, slipped badly to-day after his 70 of yesterday, finishing with 70-78—148. Alex. Armour of Washington, brother of the National Open champion, who was tied with Kirkwood at eighteen holes, also had a bad day to finish behind Kirkwood with a 70-70—149.

Johnny Farrell, the heavy winner of 1928 tournaments, added a 74 to his 78 of yesterday to give him 152, eleven strokes behind Cruickshank, and in a tie with Henry Cuici and Dave Hackney, of Lawrence, Mass.

Little Fellows Make Life Miserable For Major League Teams

Annual Educational Tours of Big League Ball Teams Find Minors Giving Crack Clubs Terrific Punishment; Extra Innings Required for Some Majors to Subdue Boisterous Minors

By BRIAN BELL

New York, April 5.—Annual educational tours of major league baseball clubs through the minors are developing into give-and-take affairs in which the little fellows are giving baseball's best some terrific punishment.

The New York Yankees, Brooklyn Robins and St. Louis Cardinals were defeated by minor league teams yesterday, while the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago White Sox had to go into extra innings to win, and the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds spent part of the afternoon trying to get even so that they could finally move on to victory.

The Yankees bowed to Nashville, 11-10 in ten innings. Ruth hit his second homer in two days but it was not a novelty, for the game produced three other circuit clouts. The winning volunteers outhit the world champions.

Frank Frisch went from the sublime to the ridiculous with four hits and two errors. His errors hurt the Cardinals more than his hits helped. St. Louis fell before Evansville of the Three-I League, 11-7.

A CIRCUS CATCH

In a game of tight pitching, the Phillies stopped the Athletics 3-2 in the Philadelphia series, the contest producing only ten safeties, equally divided. Ty Cobb cracked out two. Bill Dietrick, the reformed infielder, saved the day for Shotton's crew with a catch worthy of a regular outfielder.

The Giants continued to outhit the Washington Senators and were helped to victory 9-7 by wobbly fielding on the part of the Senators. Jahn blasted a homer as a suggestion that the New York club did a smart thing when it drafted him.

Chicago's White Sox came through with three runs in the tenth inning to win, 5 to 2 from Louisville. The Sox made no headway against the aged Nick Cullop, still good enough as a pitcher to save a horse named for him. Old Nick allowed no hits in his five innings' job of work.

The Dallas Steers could gather but three hits from Van Gilder and Sullivan, the Detroit Tigers winning 7-0. Paul Easterling's home run helped. A few more may win him a place.

Rogers Hornsby hit the ball hard to assist the Braves in winning a 7-4 game from Chattanooga.

PIRATES GO LONG WAY

The Pirates had to go eleven innings to stop San Antonia, 10-6. The Texans did their counting early, scoring all their runs in the first two innings.

Cleveland took advantage of good pitching to take a game from the Montgomery Lions, 6-1.

San Francisco, April 5—The Seals made it two straight over Seattle by winning yesterday's game, 3-2. Oliver Mitchell, left-handed the visitors into submission, and for six innings did not allow a run.

Oakland, April 5—Pat McNulty's double, with the bases full, in the seventh inning yesterday, netted three runs and gave Hollywood a 4-3 win over Oakland. Shellenback held the Oaks to five hits, while Bohler and Gould helped the Stars to win through wildness and failure to prevent hits in the pinches. Ariett hammered out two doubles and Fenton one, to score the three runs for the home club.

Los Angeles, April 5—The Portland Beavers evened up the series with Los Angeles yesterday by taking a free-hitting contest, 11 to 10. The Beavers started off with six runs in the first inning, but the Angels kept plugging away, driving two Portland pitchers from the mound. The hitting of Sigafoos, who drove in four Portland runs with two doubles and a single, featured the attack. Bardee hit a homer with none on, and Tolson did the same for the Angels.

Sacramento, April 5—Hammering the usually wily Bill Hughes, twirler for the Missions and Holling, who relieved him, for a total of thirteen hits, including homers by Monroe and McLaughlin, and doubles by French, Osborne and Koehler, the Sacramento Solons took their second straight game to-day from Bill McCarthy's Missions by a score of 11 to 3.

Nashville, April 5—For the second day in succession the New York Yanks dropped an extra inning game to a minor league club yesterday being defeated by Nashville, 11-10. Babe Ruth cracked out his second home run of the season. Chattanooga beat the champions yesterday in twelve frames. Heavy hitting by both teams marked the game to-day.

San Antonio, April 5—The Pittsburgh Pirates defeated San Antonio of the Texas League yesterday in an eleven-inning contest, 10-6, the National League champions breaking a losing streak with the Chicago club.

Indianapolis, April 5—After losing two straight exhibition games to the Indianapolis Baseball Club, the Cincinnati Reds yesterday completed a rally in the eighth inning that spelled defeat for the locals, 8-5.

Louisville, April 5—The Chicago White Sox took advantage of Louisville errors and displayed well-timed hitting in the tenth inning here yesterday to win an exhibition game 5-2. The feature of the game was Cullop's pitching for Louisville. The veteran "Nick" worked five innings without allowing a hit.

Atlanta, April 5—A batting spree in the third inning saved the Brooklyn Robins from a shutout at the hands of the Atlanta Crackers yesterday. The final score was 9-8 in favor of the Georgians. Dazzy Vance in the six innings he occupied the box gave eleven hits and four walks.

Five pinch hitters went in for the Mackmen in the last rounds, but a circus catch by Dietrick of Joe Bush's hard drive ended a budding rally. ## Glenna Collett Is Beaten By Mrs. Hill

Pinehurst, N.C., April 5—Carelessness and superfine golf combined in yesterday's semi-final matches of the women's north and south golf championship to produce two surprises and definitely determine that there will be a new champion this year.

On the eighteenth green Miss Glenna Collett of Providence, R.I., the winner of last year's tournament, and a former national titleholder, went down to defeat before the flashing putter of Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, a former transmississippi champion.

Then, after a nip and tuck battle, Miss Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan champion, grew careless at the nineteenth hole and with a fourteen-inch putt to give her a half and carry the match to the twentieth, flubbed the shot and lost to Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago.

Jumps From Bed, Gas Presses Heart

"I had stomach gas so bad I had to get up nights because of the pressure on my heart. I used Adlerika and have been entirely relieved."—R. F. Krueger.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years practice I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists. Sold in Victoria by David Spencer, Ltd., and other druggists. (Adv.)

Constipation! Piles!

MR. JAS. PAGE

"I suffered from constipation for five years and from piles for about six months, but one box of "Fruitatives" gave me complete relief. I had remedies from Quebec, Montreal, New York, Kansas City and Michigan, but all without results. "Fruitatives" gives results as nothing else does, and I sincerely recommend them to every other sufferer," writes Mr. Jas. Page of Cabano, Que.

The bowels, stomach, liver and kidneys are cleansed and strengthened by the intensified juices of fresh ripe fruit and the health-building tonics of which "Fruitatives" is made. There is nothing else like it. 25c and 50c a box at all druggists.

Colwood

Colwood, April 5.—Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier of British Columbia, together with other prominent speakers, will address a meeting in Colwood Hall Saturday evening, April 7, at 8 o'clock. The meeting is open to the public.

The monthly meeting of the Optimists Club will be held at the home of Miss Kelly, "Nightingale," Saturday, April 7, at 8 p.m. The meeting will take the form of a social evening.

A combined choir of twenty-five voices drawn from the parishes of Langford, Colwood and Metchosin admirably rendered Stanier's "Crucifixion" in St. John's Church, Colwood, Tuesday evening, the service being taken by the Rev. H. Bolton of Metchosin. A solo, "King Everglorious," by Cecil Blogg, was perhaps the outstanding number of the evening. Amongst the numbers presented by the quartette, "God So Loved the World," was perhaps the most impressively rendered. For the benefit of those who were unable to attend this special Easter service it will be repeated in St. Mary's Church, Metchosin, Good Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

OLD AGE PENSION PLAN IS EXTENDED

Ottawa, April 5.—With the Yukon Territory now coming within the provisions of the Old Age Pensions Act, and both Saskatchewan and Manitoba enacting measures that will bring those provinces under its scope, the scene is gradually developing. Negotiations are now in progress between the Department of Labor, which administers the act, and the Government of Saskatchewan and Manitoba to settle all preliminaries for the application of the act to those provinces.

Representatives of the Saskatchewan Government will be in Ottawa within the next few days, and it is expected Manitoba also will send members of its administration shortly to arrange the details. The chief of these is to insure the provincial schemes fit in with the provisions of the Federal act.

The acceptance by the two prairie provinces of the act opens the way for its application to the Northwest Territories. Paragraph six of the act says that as soon as an agreement has been made with the two provinces adjoining the Northwest Territories, the commissioner of the Territories may submit to the Governor-in-Council for approval a scheme for the administration and payment of pensions therein.

Werrenrath Signs European Operas To Train Students

100 Young Singers a Year Will Be Handled Under New Plan

New York, April 5.—Opera-hungry America is to help the less proud and prosperious lyric theatres of post-war Europe and these are in turn to give raw American artists a year's practical stage routine, under a scheme looking to gross payments approaching $750,000 annually by 100 students in twenty-six opera houses, announced by Reinald Werrenrath at the Hotel Algonquin yesterday.

Such a plan of co-operation, the baritone told fifteen guests at his informal meeting, originated with his manager, John T. Adams, as a memorial to the latter's father, the late A. F. Adams, of the Wolfsohn Bureau. After three years Mr. Adams's mother and Mr. Werrenrath joined in underwriting the cost of giving the plan a fair survey and working trial.

The "Iota" or International Opera Training Association is thus called suddenly into activity by the return of the junior Mr. Adams on the liner Paris. He cabled word of signing contracts with the twenty-six opera houses, mostly in minor cities of France, Germany and Italy, to receive four young American singers apiece for the coming year.

AUDITIONS NEXT MONTH

Auditions are to be held next month and final choice probably in May, after which Mr. Adams and Mr. Werrenrath hope to sail abroad June 9 with the first student groups for opera training.

Mr. Werrenrath has organized a committee of judges, with himself as chairman.

The judges will be Louise Homer, Alma Gluck, Mabel Garrison, Lambert Murphy and Clarence Whitehill, all present or former opera singers of the Metropolitan, with Olga Samaroff, Albert Spalding and Toscha Seidel assisting as judges of the candidates' musical qualities apart from merely vocal merits.

Mr. Werrenrath's statement of plans, in which Mrs. A. F. Adams concurred during discussion, declared:

"As everyone knows there is no place in America for the young artist to obtain opera training. John T. Adams, president of the Wolfsohn Musical Bureau of New York Inc., has been associated with that organization, the oldest in the world, for the past twenty years. It has been constantly brought home to him that a solution to this problem must be found. When young artists do go abroad for advanced study, much time, energy and money is wasted, and many students are 'kidded' along by the unscrupulous teachers into whose clutches they fall. And yet this foreign training is necessary, for the opera houses here have not the facilities nor the time to train young artists.

"For the past three years, Mr. Adams has been working on a plan to arrange with a number of European opera houses for the post-graduate study, as it were, of American singers. The final contracts have just been consummated and Mr. Adams returns to New York on the Paris to set the wheels in motion here.

MORE OPERA HOUSES TO BE ADDED

"Mr. Adams has cabled that he has over twenty opera houses signed up, and that about a hundred pupils can be cared for the first season. More opera houses will be added gradually, as the foreign representative of Mr. Adams is constantly making additional contacts. Unusual interest has been aroused throughout Europe by Mr. Adams's plan, and he expresses himself as being most gratified at the receptions accorded him by the opera directors everywhere. The Royal Theatres in Antwerp and Liege have been signed, also Bordeaux, Marseilles, Cannes, Lyons, Trieste, Bologna, Florence, Palma and Genoa. Mr. Adams also has contracts with six opera houses in Austria and ten in Germany. They will admit student artists in September.

"Applications can be made to the audition committee by the teacher of any singer who is ready to go abroad for training. Auditions will be held and only singers passing will be permitted to go under the Adams plan, thus preventing any student who is unfitted for opera from going abroad, and who would only be wasting money seeking a mirage. Under this plan a singer can accomplish in a year and for a quarter of the cost what was previously a gamble. It is anticipated that there will be several scholarships available to students who might otherwise be unable to take advantage of the opportunity offered.

"Students will go to one opera house, there receiving instruction in languages, routine, repertoire, and having a certain number of appearances guaranteed. If they desire to be heard in more than one place, this can also be arranged."

Luxton

Luxton, April 5.—The last game in the inter-school series of basketball in which Happy Valley School will participate was played Tuesday afternoon when North Sooke team visited Happy Valley. Both teams seemed evenly matched and at the end of the last quarter the score was 8-all. Happy Valley were fortunate to secure another basket in overtime, the score being 10-8. Referee was J. T. Bruce, teacher of the Happy Valley School.

Mrs. J. M. Scoular and family of Victoria recently spent a few days at Luxton.

WE ARE ABOUT TO PLACE ON THE MARKET

WHAT IS IN MANY WAYS THE MOST unique bungalow ever constructed in Victoria. UNIQUE IN PLAN and in the amount of accommodation for its size. DISTINCTIVE IN EXTERIOR, charming in its setting among the oaks; we cannot call to mind a house which possesses such a COMBINATION OF UTILITY AND CHARM. We have advised the builder not to open it for inspection till it is completely finished, but we will describe it further in a later issue.

Most School Children Have Normal Hearts

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

A general survey of large numbers of school children indicated that from one-and-a-half to two per cent of all children in public schools suffer with disturbances of the heart which are of importance in determining the length of life and the ability of the child to live a satisfactory existence.

A recent study involved the investigation of 355 children from two to thirteen years of age who were examined year after year in a private school in New York City.

GIRL'S BEAT HIGHER

As a result of this study of the hearts of normal school children, it was shown that girls from four to twelve years of age have a more rapid heart beat when lying down than do boys. The rate when standing up is about the same, except from eleven to twelve years of age, when the heart rate for girls is in general higher than that of boys.

The blood pressure when studied did not seem to show any special difference in the two sexes.

An encouraging observation was the fact that heart disturbances appear to be steadily less frequent in children from the age of two years to thirteen years.

One of the ways in which modern medicine determines disturbances of heart is to listen for unusual sounds or murmurs associated with the heart beat. Some forms of murmur are definitely associated with certain disturbances of the valves.

There are other heart murmurs which appear to be functional or without relationship to any anatomical change in the heart tissue or any change in its ability to carry on its work.

Transient murmurs were found in 6.6 per cent of the children studied, but they were not found in any of them to be of demonstrable significance. That should not be taken to mean that a heart murmur is always of no significance.

STRAIN OF EXERCISES

On the other hand the functional tests of the heart involved a study of exercises, and it was found that some children who became blue on exercise or who became pale or short of breath or unduly tired actually had hearts incapable of carrying on work that was placed upon them.

When the size of the heart was studied in such cases, it was found to be unequal to its task. A heart that is either much smaller or much larger than the average for the size of body concerned needs careful investigation.

Night Life and Your Health

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

An old man of ninety, whose family is ill, is doing the cooking, washing the dishes, keeping the house straight, dressing his small grandchildren for school and looking after things generally.

He resents it greatly if anyone remarks about it being a fine thing for him to do, or to express surprise that he is able to do it. "Why not?" he demands sharply. "You all think ninety's so old! But it isn't old! I can eat all the rest of them under the table every time—fifteen buckwheat cakes big enough to cover a dinner-plate at one sitting and then some! That's why I like to do the cooking. I can eat all I want without having them all say, 'Now, grandpa, you'd better be careful!'"

Those who know the old man say that he is strong because he was born in the country and was a farmer for fifty years. Fresh air! "Fresh air and hard work. That's what does it," they say wisely and wag their heads.

But grandpa will tell you it was early to bed that did it. "Never went to bed after eight," he says. "Bed at eight and up at five. That's nine hours' sleep. Sometimes in Winter it was six before we got up, so that's ten. And any man can stay well on nine or ten hours' sleep."

He is entirely right. Most people do sleep too little. Americans have gone off a little on the subject of night life. Witness the night-club, midnight shows, the all-night dance, with breakfast at an all-night restaurant.

It's all right for girls who can sleep most of the next day, but how about men who must be at the office at 9 o'clock? And how about the girls who must be there, too? A young person of eighteen, twenty or twenty-two may stand it for a short time without feeling the effect. But time will tell, even in the young.

Really it is amazing how well we do stand up under abuse! The human body is surely the greatest victim of our folly. And we wonder why heart disease is so steadily on the increase. There are none so blind as those who won't see.

Everything from handling luggage to cleaning and cooking will be done by electricity on a new ship being built in Belfast.

Bones of prehistoric men discovered in East Africa covered forty-one different types, but none of them was of what is known as the Negro type.

Nebraska's rivers and lakes have a surface area of 712 square miles, slightly less than one per cent of the state's area.

Insatiable Appetite Of Reading Public Builds Up Industry

Emmet H. Naylor, Legal Representative of Eastern Paper Interests, Says United States Is Looking to Canada for Newsprint; New York Newspaper Uses Product of Twenty-five Acres of Spruce Land for One Sunday Edition

Emmet H. Naylor, prominent attorney of New York and Springfield, Mass., who is staying at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. Naylor on what he terms a holiday visit to Victoria, tells some interesting things about the newsprint industry in dealing with its tremendous development within a comparatively few years.

Consumption of newsprint has reached such gigantic proportions that the United States is now looking to Canada, with her untapped forests, to keep the giant presses of the big city dailies south of the international border functioning on a normal basis, according to Mr. Naylor.

"Take The New York Times," said Mr. Naylor to illustrate his point in discussing the newsprint industry to a representative of The Times to-day.

"New York Times uses the product of 25 acres of spruce wood land to supply newsprint for one Sunday edition," he said. "Multiply that a few times by large editions that are produced throughout the continent and you will realize what the newsprint industry means."

BUT 7 PER CENT OF WOOD CUT

"But get me clearly on this point," Mr. Naylor added guardedly with the object of offsetting any impression that the production of newspapers was ruining the great timber resources of the continent.

"Of the total wood cut of the North American continent only seven per cent of it is used for newsprint purposes."

Mr. Naylor, who is the legal representative of a number of large pulp and paper producing companies in the East, states that the reciprocal arrangements between Canada and the United States have always been most satisfactory.

The utilization of modern machinery and the speeding up of plants has created an overproduction of twenty per cent in newsprint, he contended.

INSPECTED MILLS

While on the Pacific Coast, Mr. Naylor has been taking the opportunity of inspecting the larger paper producing plants and he evinced the keenest interest in the big mills that are turning out newsprint in British Columbia.

He sees great possibilities for development of the industry on this coast in the recent merger of the Zellerbach Paper Company and the Crown-Willamette Paper Company.

The Zellerbach interests will now control the big paper development scheme of the Canadian Crown Willamette Company at Campbell River.

REFORESTATION ADVOCATE

Mr. Naylor is a strong advocate of reforestation. He says that in Oregon, through which state he passed on his way here from California, reforestation has been undertaken with such marked success that within fifteen years second growth timber has been made available for pulp manufacturing purposes.

PLAN TO SHORTEN MILL BAY FERRY ROUTE ACROSS ARM

To pass on the proposed new landing site for the Mill Bay ferry on the Malahat side, officials of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Publicity Bureau motored over the Malahat Highway to-day.

The new landing, it was explained, would shorten the ferry's running time from Brentwood across Saanich Arm, enabling it to make more trips a day, and at the same time would still cut off all the bad hills on the Malahat.

FLOWERS, BUNS AND FASHIONS FEATURE EASTER

But Hot Cross Buns Appear to Be Losing Popularity

Gay Spring fashions, gayer than ever this year, Easter eggs, rabbits and other novelties take pride of place in store windows in Victoria at this time, but inquiries show that the famous institution of Good Friday—the hot cross bun—shows signs of tottering. However, it will still take thousands of dozens to meet the demands of Victoria citizens to-morrow.

Until a year or two ago the bigger bakeries made hot cross buns by the scores of thousands, but this year it seems they have dropped out of the run. Other bakeries in the city have stepped into the breach and for the last three days they have taken orders which will keep them working all through the night and to the early hours of the morning. Philanthropic individuals and societies are seeing that the various homes and institutions in Victoria are liberally supplied with buns for to-morrow. The B.C. Protestant Orphanage, the Children's Aid Home, the Homes for Aged and Infirm Men and Women and the public wards of the hospitals will all receive their share of buns this evening.

Victorians are particularly lucky in being able to secure flowers which are such an essential feature of Easter, for flowers have been blooming in plenty in the gardens of the city for many weeks. All the flower shops in town and also the stalls in the Victoria Public Market are well stocked for the usual Easter flower rush, which will begin in earnest Saturday morning.

EASTER PARADE

Clothing stores in the city are doing a brisk business in advance of the usual Easter parade.

GREAT DEBT OWED HARDY NAVIGATORS

Discovery of America Reviewed Before Rotary Club By Alfred Carmichael

"We British Columbians owe everything to those wonderful explorers who discovered America, both East and West Coasts," declared Alfred Carmichael, when addressing the Rotary Club to-day, at the Empress Hotel, on the discovery of Vancouver Island.

Mr. Carmichael told of the impetus given exploration by Marco Polo's writings and the endeavor of medieval merchants to cheap the cost of bringing Eastern spices to Europe.

DIED MISTAKEN

He showed remarkable ancient maps of China and Japan which had been the basis of the westward venture of Christopher Columbus in search of a direct maritime route to the Spice Islands. Mr. Carmichael recalled that Columbus believed to his death that he had discovered a route to the Far East, and showed maps which indicated that for many years the existence of North America was unknown.

America was so named by a German map drawer, in honor of Amerigo Vespucci, a navigator who followed the Atlantic coast of the western world for thousands of leagues, and gave the world much knowledge of the South American coastline.

he ventures of Balboa and Cortez were sketched, the former being the first man to see the Pacific Ocean and the latter the first to sail the Pacific, building a fleet at San Blas which sailed up the coast to California.

UNTIMELY STORM

After 200 years had passed without important discoveries on the northern Pacific Coast, Capt. Cook was commissioned by the British Navy to investigate rumors of an eastward-bearing inlet, hoped to prove a navigable route to the East. A snowstorm prevented Capt. Cook from locating the Straits of Jaun de Fuca, the re-discovery of these waters, first described by the early Spanish navigator, de Fuca, being delayed until the arrival of Capt. Barkley.

VANCOUVER AND QUADRA

Mr. Carmichael told of the seizure of British ships at Nootka by the Spanish authorities, and the conference in 1792 at Nootka between the Spaniard Quadra and Capt. Vancouver. "We owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to the old explorers and fur traders of this Coast. Had it not been for Vancouver it is probable this territory would have remained Spanish and so reverted to the United States," he said.

DIVINE SERVICE

The Rotary Club will attend the evening service at St. John's Church on Sunday evening, President Fletcher announcing that a block of seats has been reserved for the club.

The members were urged by President Fletcher to vote on the technical school by-law being balloted upon today at the Market Building.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, April 5—The wheat market was mostly fractional lower to-day but acted decidedly stubborn in the face of the weakness in other markets and the heavy rains reported over large areas of the Winter wheat belt. Prices fell away ½ cent during the first period with some liquidation in evidence, but the offerings were well absorbed with Seaboard houses and the buying against daily bids. Later there was very little for sale, and while the buying was scattered and appeared to be unimportant the market gradually firmed up until all of the early loss was recovered. The local cash market was again extremely quiet with practically nothing doing. Exporters reported no business overnight and while there was some demand from shippers for the lower grades, offerings were very light.

Spreads were a fraction better on the lower grades but unchanged on the others. Further snows were received in the Northern portions of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Winnipeg futures market closed ⅛ lower to ¼ higher. The main strength being in October.

Coarse Grains: The firmness in wheat was reflected in the coarse grains and these markets received most of the declines recorded yesterday. There was a fair domestic demand for oats, while a better inquiry was reported from Seaboard for barley and rye. Offerings light. Oats closed ½ to ⅜ higher, barley ¾ to ⅜ higher and rye ⅞ to ¾ higher.

(By B.C. Bond Corporation direct wire)

Chicago, April 5.—Wheat: There are rather general selling at the outside and prices declined more than a cent. Buying against bids checked the break and later there was a good commission house demand for new crop months.

Good rains in parts of Southwest were responsible for the early selling and should prove highly beneficial, although private reports indicated the fall in parts of the states was only light, and more rain was needed. Forecast was for mostly cloudy and somewhat unsettled weather over greater part of the belt.

Export demand was fair with sales in all positions estimated at 400,000 to 500,000 largely Manitobas. We believe the advantage still lies with holders of July wheat.

Corn: Liquidation was on in corn early and prices declined sharply with numerous stop loss orders uncovered on the way down and sellers of bids were forced to sell to protect themselves.

Local longs were the best sellers early. Local receipts showed a good increase with more than 300 cars here to-day. Cash demand was only fair with the basis steady. We would rather sell corn than buy it.

WHITNEY LETTER

New York, April 5.—(By Branson Brown & Co. Limited)—Whitney of the Wall Street financial bureau says to-day:

"Yesterday's market must be considered eminently satisfactory and one which promises higher prices. Stocks are correcting their individual positions through industrial reactions and this process promises to continue, so I would repeat what has been said before, that even thought the averages cease to gain for a while, there is too much left in the market to warrant other than individual selling recommendations. The oil and rail group have practically not even started their advances and the same may be said of a considerable number of industrials particularly those of the type of which the public is not as well informed as it is on the more popular issues. The recommendation is made that you hold stocks over the week-end holiday as further advance is in prospect next week.

"You are being presented with the opportunity to buy B. & O. below 120, and it is an opportunity which should not be lost. The Parker bill is going to pass congress easily, the eastern rail conference which will be resumed to-day has practically completed its work and will result in higher prices of N.Y.C., B. & O., Reading and Wabash.

"Amn. Agr. Chem. preferred will still be cheap when it is in the 80s.

"Fairbanks advanced sharply yesterday when it was learned that the forthcoming first quarter report will show earnings approximately four times as large as corresponding quarter last year. If balance of the year is only half as good as this $3 dividend payer yielding in excess of six per cent can easily add $10 to $15 to its prevailing price. Cuyamel Fruit earned in excess of $6 last year, and is expected to better that figure by at least fifty per cent this year, consequently attention is again directed to it while it remains in the low and middle 50s. Buy Marland Oil and General Asphalt. Hold Packard and buy Overland for the next installment of its move, which should start to-day and carry it through 30. Hold U.S. Leather A and Montana Power. Can is as good as ever.

Wall Street To-day

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, April 5.—The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: If anyone was worried over the three-day holiday it must have been traders who were short of active stocks. In fact by the end of the first hour the street apparently had reached the conclusion that most of the selling of the preholiday variety had been completed on Wednesday.

General Motors led the industrial rally, and at no time during the day did it show signs of weakening and constructive interests appeared to have the market under almost complete control. It is very probable that the action of the market since the publication of the March loan figures has added to confidence if anything, and there was more aggressiveness in to-day's buying than perhaps on any of the preceding days of the current week.

Conjecture over the eastern trunk line situation was general, the report that the eastern executives were still at loggerheads apparently did not receive much support. Baltimore and Ohio, Reading and New York Central and Wabash were strong. Even when call money went to 5½ per cent early in the afternoon after a renewal rate of 5 per cent the list continued to maintain a good tone. Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans and this apparently inspired the rise in the call rate.

Among the special stocks, Cluett Peabody and Underwood, Elliott Fisher were vigorously bought to the accompaniment of reports of excellent earnings outlook. Schulte a notorious market laggard suddenly spurted and advanced something over six points. On the basis of income return Schulte apparently had been behind the market for months and to-day's sudden rise reflected undoubtedly quiet accumulation during the past several weeks.

Brokers' loans increased $153,929,000.

Montreal To-day

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs
By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire

Montreal, April 5.—Owing to the fact that the Montreal Stock Exchange will close to-night not to reopen until next Tuesday, traders were apparently not willing to make commitments on a large scale, and consequently the volume of transactions showed a considerable shrinkage this morning. There was a certain amount of irregularity in the early part of the session, but towards the close, prices firmed up in nearly all groups.

Steel of Canada was again in the limelight. Selling ex-dividend 1¾, it opened 2½ down, then broke to a low of 208⅝ and rallied on once more, closing at 214 for a net gain of 1½. Intl. Nickel gained 3 at 93¼ and finished at 93. Dom. Bridge closed unchanged at 78½. Bronze was not traded in at all. Steel of Canada Pfd. declined only ½ to 186½. Smelters at 275 was unchanged.

A four point advance in Lyall Const'n to 83 was one of the big features among the specialties. Alcohol sold up ½ to 43½, and the "B" stock remained firm at 40.

Massey Harris figured among the most active issues, and the closing price of 45½ showed a gain of ¾.

Penmans firmed up 1 to 102 and Canadian Connecticut Cotton Pfd. scored a new high level since 1923 at 85, a gain of two points from the previous close.

The most important movements in the paper group were Frazer Company. The opening price showed a loss of one point at 82, and later the decline was carried on five points at 78. At the close it recovered to 81.

COPPER SALES CLIMBING HIGH

New York, April 5 (By Branson, Brown)—Demand and consumption of copper is about as large as it ever was, but producers say that prices are not going to soar to a level that might weaken the very strong situation. The head of one of the largest groups says he does not believe the price will get much above 14½ cents during the next six months.

Anaconda and other coppers were fairly active, but showed little material benefit from the announcement of Iron Age that March sales of red metal were the second largest in history.

SMELTERS PLANS BOOST "BIG MISS"

Vancouver, April 5.—Pre-holiday indifference prevailed on the Vancouver stock market to-day, with volume of trading relatively light.

Premier and Big Missouri were the two most active stocks on the list.

Premier was still reactionary, opening at 245 and gradually sinking to a low of 240, when a revival of strength began to appear, bringing it back to 242 but it fell back later to the day's low.

Big Missouri was higher, following reports of projected active development by Consolidated Mining and Smelting, opening at 69½, it rose to a high of 71, but later fell off a point or two before the close.

There was only light trading in Pend Oreille, which had a uniform price of 20.00.

Grandview was steady at 62.

Lucky Jim turned over at 43 and Ruth Hope at 60, while there was slightly increased activity in Whitewater at from 265 to 270.

Sales of Woodbine were made at 47.

Moderating demand developed for Cork Province on a downward tendency, opening sales being at 44 and the close at 43. Kootenay Florence was unchanged at 29½. Sales on the balance of the list were light and the prices practically unchanged.

The market will be closed Friday, Saturday and Monday.

BOND MARKET FIRM, ACTIVE

New York, April 5.—The bond market showed fair activity and a firm tone to-day. Railroad liens were in demand, with improved prices reflecting the strength of the stock. Great Northern 7s, Iowa Central first 5s and Chicago and Alton 3½s moved near to their peak prices. New York Central and Hudson River Convertible 4s advanced 2½ points to a new high at 98¼. The St. Paul issues, however, as well as Denver and Rio Grande, Western General 5s, Missouri Pacific 5s, and Katys adjustment 5s, were soft. New York traction bonds advanced to higher ground. Third Avenue adjustment 5s and refunding 4s and several Interborough Rapid Transit obligations established new highs. New York Railway 6s moved up more than 3 points to a new high at 26¼. Anaconda Copper 7s continued to sag. Utilities were rather inactive. Italian municipals were outstanding in the foreign group. Rome City 6½s touching a new peak. Budapest City 7s and Australia Commonwealth 5s were in demand. Mexico 6s advanced a full point. Announcement was made that the $15,000,000 of Pittsburgh Hotel's first mortgage 5s has been oversubscribed and the books closed, and that plans have been made for a $21,000,000 bond issue by the Wheeling Steel Company, half the proceeds to be used for retirement of outstanding bonds and the remainder for expansion.

TORONTO MINES STRONGER

Toronto, April 5—A generally firmer tone was displayed in active trading on the mining exchange to-day. Bidgood sold up 6 to 1.00 and Kirkland Lake Gold was higher at 202. Tack Hughes at 9.00 was 15 points higher. Barry Hollinger was another firm spot at 138, while the best gain was the 35 point advance in Hudson Bay at 17.70. Pend Oreille softened to 20.50.

International Commerce

THE current of world trade was running in the direction of Canada before the Great War, and running at such a strong pace that even the greatest conflict in history could not stem it. In the short space of 13 years, from 1913 to 1926, the physical volume of Canada's exports doubled. To-day, Canadian grain and flour are sold in 54 countries—rubber belting manufactured in Canada turns the wheels of industry in South Africa—Canadian cement is used in construction projects in Brazil—Roumania buys automobiles made in Canada.

Recognizing that foreign trade revolves around a banking service extending to the four corners of the earth, The Canadian Bank of Commerce has built up an organization that has placed the most remote hamlet and the largest industrial centre practically on equal terms in the sale and shipment of Canadian products to over 120 countries.

More Men at Work, Outlook Brightens In U.S. With Spring

Washington, April 5.—The horizon is clearing in the employment situation and the outlook is encouraging, according to Francis I. Jones, Director General of the United States Employment Service of the Department of Commerce, who declared to-day that the steel industry, long regarded as a barometer, had shown improvement in both production and employment. At the same time Mr. Jones made public detailed reports on employment conditions in New York, New England and other parts of the country.

In its summary for New York State the Employment Service says the downward trend in manufacturing activity and employment has been checked in several major lines and a "slight but gradual increase in employment was apparent at the close of the month."

Improvement in industrial employment in New England is also pictured. Preliminary reports for Illinois and the East North Central District, it was announced, indicate improvement in employment in February.

"The country," says Director Jones, "has been unduly alarmed by exaggerated reports circulated widely that a serious unemployment situation exists. There is no question that there has been, and that there is still, some unemployment apparent. It is also true that, no matter how prosperous the industrial condition of the country may be, there is more or less unemployment. Students of economics estimate that even in our most prosperous times there are always a million or more workers out of unemployment, some voluntarily and others from involuntary causes.

LABORERS AND WHITE-COLLAR MEN HIT

"The textile industry has been in an unsettled condition for the past few years, and there is some hesitancy in forecasting any immediate improvement, as its prosperity depends largely upon the arbiters of fashion. The boot and shoe industry is not affording full employment to the available workers of this class. Many of the basic industries, by mass production, are producing a greater volume with fewer employes to-day than five years ago. What may appear a strange paradox is nevertheless a fact. There is more unemployment among unskilled laborers and the so-called 'white-collar' workers than in any other classes of workers.

"The horizon is clearing and the employment outlook is encouraging. The iron and steel industry, long recognized as a reliable barometer, has shown a definite improvement in both production and employment. Orders for structural materials, railroad cars, rails and other equipment, not to mention the increase in the demand for automobile materials, practically assure a steady increase to the forces employed in the basic industry. In view of this there must follow a corresponding increase in allied plants and factories.

"With the advent of Spring weather a further improvement in the unemployment situation will materialize. Federal building construction, road construction, municipal improvements and many other seasonal activities will be started, which means increased employment for a large number of skilled and unskilled workers who are unemployed during the Winter months."

RULING SOON ON IRRIGATION PLAN

International Joint Commission Considers Canadian-Montana River Division

Washington, April 5.—Claiming that under the present apportionment Canada was getting more than its share of the waters of the Milk and St. Mary Rivers, Senator Walsh of Montana yesterday asked the International Joint Commission to reopen its investigation of the dispute.

J. A. Metzger of the State Department supported the application.

A letter from the Canadian Government was read opposing reopening the case, which was the subject of an order of the commission in October, 1921.

At the conclusion of argument the commission reserved judgment.

IMMIGRATION IS TOPIC OF REPORT

Regina, April 5.—An exhaustive report on the immigration and colonization situation in Saskatchwan has been issued by the immigration committee of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion. This will be submitted to the Dominion convention of ex-service men at St. John, N.B., next June, when a national policy on this subject will be discussed.

The report recommends the establishment of a national commission which should survey the agricultural, mining and industrial requirements of all the provinces and so discover the real immigration needs of Canada.

It recommends revision of existing agreements with the railways by means of which people who are allegedly settlers, but in reality are not, are dumped in Canada, requiring them to show a percentage of actual settlement. It suggests there should be more coordination of welcome and reception work for British immigrants, and states the subsidized immigration of youths under the age of eighteen should be done away with.

The report deals at length with the foreign elements in this province, and while it ridicules all idea of the many racial groups represented on the prairie eventually becoming a menace to the English-speaking and French-speaking stocks here, it specifically states that south, central and eastern European immigration does not result in any appreciable colonization.

If a bullet from a modern high-power rifle did not lose its speed, it could travel around the world in a little over fifteen hours; while the impulse from radio-sending station would cover the same distance in less than one-seventh of a second.

The origin of the world "spooning" goes back nearly 500 years, when a man would make known his marital intentions by giving the girl a "love spoon"—a hand-made utensil with two bowls on a single stem.

Eastern Dairies Sales Reported Well Ahead

It is reported that sales of all units of Eastern Dairies Limited are running considerably ahead of last year. Plans for further economy of operation are to be put into effect immediately. These are expected to have a beneficial effect on the earnings of the company. After May 1 the Richmond Jersey Creameries Limited, which has hitherto operated as a separate unit, will be operated by Elmhurst Dairy Limited, the Montreal unit of the company.

After April 2 the large butter output of the Richmond unit will be marketed by the Elmhurst Dairy in Montreal. Since the formation of Eastern Dairies two years ago the company has acquired thirty-four plants for the collection and distribution of dairy products.

These plants serve over 70,000 customers in the cities of Montreal, Ottawa, Hull, Toronto, Winnipeg and surrounding territories. Last year over 40,000,000 units of milk, cream, butter and ice cream were marketed.

BROKERS' LOANS SHOW BIG GAIN DURING MARCH

—H. P. Bliss says: An increase of over $317,000,000 in brokers' loans during the past month as recorded by the New York Stock Exchange compilation, which brings the total to a new high of more than $4,640,000,000, more or less confirms the opinion of Wall Street which the weekly Federal reserve figures have not. In other words, it has been vigorously contended that the action of the market during March was plainly indicative of a most substantial increase in collateral borrowings.

Trail Smelter Ore Shipments Up

Nelson, April 5.—Ore received at the Trail reduction plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company for the year to March 31, now totals 156,429 tons. Of this 18,119 tons have been shipped by custom mines and 138,310 by company mines.

In the ten days, March 22 to March 31, inclusive, company mines shipped 14,447 tons and custom mines 2,172 tons, a total of 16,621 tons.

Although the statement is for ten days, shipments are well up, the Allenby, with 939, and the Quilp of Republic, Wash., with 560 tons, being the big shippers of the custom mines.

U.S. TAX CUT

Washington, April 5.—Democratic members of the Senate finance committee decided to fight for a $300,000,000 tax cut, $100,000,000 more than proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, at a meeting late yesterday, after the committee had began work on the bill.

MONTREAL DEATH

Montreal, April 5.—George Vipond, seventy-eight, well known in the wholesale fruit business here for nearly sixty years, died yesterday. He was born at St. Henry, Que. Mr. Vipond worked as a telegraph operator before establishing the fruit business which bears his name.

Golconda

REPORTS on development at Golconda Mine continue highly satisfactory. Mill construction is proceeding on schedule. Arrangements are being made for the listing of Golconda shares on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange of Toronto at an early date.

We are of the opinion that Golconda shares present far better investment value at today's levels than at any time in the past few months, as developed ore resources have been greatly increased and date of commencement of regular production is steadily drawing nearer.

Crew of Schooner K. V. Kruse Ate Parrot Food When Supply Gave Out on Gruelling Voyage

Astoria, Ore., April 5.—Rivalling the horror voyage Edgar Allen Poe depicted in his narrative of "A. Gordon Pym," fourteen gaunt, weary and sullen sailors to-day snarled and growled a broken tale of danger, hardship and horror, as they lay in the clammy forecastle of the five-masted schooner K. V. Kruse, 115 days out of Adelaide, Australia, a victim of heartless, unrelenting gales.

The story was liberally punctuated with profanity, but through it all not one derogatory word was spoken of the skipper, Capt. Billy Mayne, who has sailed the seven seas since he was fourteen.

EPIC OF SEA

It was an epic of the sea, replete with thrills and quivering with incidents as piece by piece the story came from them.

Tragedy stalked the schooner near the Midway Islands, when Arno Knapp, who joined the vessel in Adelaide, Australia, became infested with the idea that the schooner was carrying a cargo of corpses. One day, near noon, he quietly mounted the rigging and leaped. He floundered about in the shark-infested sea and spurned the lifebuoy companions tossed to him.

CURSED COOK

Sufficient food was taken on board at Adelaide for 125 days, but the cook "wasted the rations," "lost his yeast," "didn't keep a starter," so they said. A contsant cursing of the cook was prevalent in the steaming forecastle.

The coal oil leaked and the supply ran low. Days were bitterly cold as the southwest gale tossed them about. Spare gaffs and booms were chopped up. There were no matches and the only fire on board the vessel was kept up by burning fish oil in a slush pot in the forecastle. They patched sails by the light of the slush pot smudge in the smoke and soot with the stench of the rotten fish oil fresh in their nostrils.

EAT PARROT FOOD

A week before the Kruse appeared off the Columbia River on her second attempt to enter the river, the food supply was so low that the men were forced to eat the rice kept especially for the skippers pet parrot. Even the parrot was threatened, they said.

From the time the Kruse headed south, she met battering gales. On March 12 they met a tanker off Coos Bay and signalled them her plight. At first the tanker treated their situation blithely, but later offered aid, they said. Seas were roaring and aid could not be given.

FOOD AT LAST

On March 30 the tug Arrow No. 3 appeared off McKenzie Head bearing the first bit of real food they had tasted for nearly two weeks. Immediately after putting the food aboard the hawser snapped and the Kruse was forced to put to sea again to escape beaching on Cape Disappointment.

She went driving up the coast before a southerly gale, catching sight of the coastguard cutter Snohomish, which was believed to be accompanying her. They sailed as far north as Vancouver Island. There a nor'wester turned them around and they allowed the schooner to tear down the coast again toward the Columbia River.

TOWED TO ASTORIA

A slowing gale help them drop anchor Tuesday morning and they were hailed by the pilot schooner Columbia. More food was put aboard. Tuesday night the schooner was towed into quarantine off Astoria.

It was late Wednesday afternoon when the fourteen sailors parted company, probably forever, with the K. V. Kruse. They wobbled up the main street of this city, their legs unaccustomed to the pavement, to the customs house where money was dropped into each of their hands.

Each vowed he'd never sail again.

FIJI TREASURER RETURNING HOME

Hon. H. H. Rushton Is Passenger Aboard the R.M.S. Niagara Sailing Yesterday

With population in the Fiji Islands increasing, trade opportunities for Canada there are becoming more and more favorable, according to Hon. H. H. # Mediterranean Fleet Clears For Action In Mimic Sea Battle

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, April 5.—An extensive naval force of eighty-two vessels of the Mediterranean and Atlantic fleets is now engaged in exercises in the eastern approaches of the Straits of Gibraltar.

A few days ago the battle-cruiser squadron had a warlike passage from Malaga to Gibraltar. On board the Repulse demolition was carried out as a harsh preliminary to war conditions. All hatches and scuttles were closed, cabin fittings dismantled, wooden doors taken off hinges, and pictures and plate taken down and laid on floors. Men wearing white working rig and carrying gas masks took their action stations, the triple four-inch gun teams standing by for the first shot.

A formation of six torpedo-dropping aeroplanes dived from the sky ahead, swooped down upon the Hood, zoomed away into the clouds and disappeared. Later they alighted on the top of the Furious or the "Covered Wagon," as the aircraft carrier is called, which received them while steaming at full speed, with two destroyers hovering in attendance in case of accidents. The big job was the firing of the fifteen-inch guns.

The three huge turrets of the Repulse revolved to port, each pointing two enormous guns seven miles across the sea to where, astern of the Snapdrogon, could be seen a tiny object—the target. The Hood started the firing. A gigantic flash of flame came from her side, a cloud of brown smoke, a crash, and an awful screaming as the projectile was hurled from the ship. The Repulse was shaken by an explosion as if it were a toy ship being pushed roughly into the Round Pond in Kensington Gardens. A few caps shot into the air, and up to the top of the ship puffed a reeking cloud of cordite fumes. She had fired. The target became surrounded by pillars of water 100 feet high as the straddling shots spurted up weird edifices from the sea.

Unfortunately, the Repulse followed up her successful shoot by being "torpedoed" before reaching Malaga. Five submarines, looking rather like snails as they lay on the surface some miles off, launched a daring attack on the battle cruisers, and it was adjudged that the Repulse was hit.

Coronation Next Fall Will Attract Tourists to Japan

Seattle, April 5.—The coronation ceremony of the Japanese Emperor, which takes place in November, will unquestionably be the outstanding Oriental event of the year, and a matter of intense interest to all tourists throughout the Far East.

While it is rather doubtful if the ordinary or casual foreign visitor to Japan will be able to witness the actual ceremony, advices from Japan indicate that the entire nation will be "en fete" for well over a month during the coming Autumn and that visitors to that country will then see it under auspices which have never before been possible.

The present programme, which is subject to slight alterations that may be necessary through the inclusion in the dates of the Meiji-Setsu celebration, is as follows:

November 4—Emperor leaves Nagoya and arrives at Kyoto.

November 7—The coronation.

November 8-14—Sacred rituals and banquets.

November 15-26—Emperor pays homage to the principal imperial mausoles.

November 27—Emperor returns to Tokio.

A coronation tour to Japan will be conducted by Thos. Cook & Son, according to word received by local agents of this firm. The touring party will leave San Francisco by the Dollar liner President Jackson on September 28, and the itinerary will include a varied tour of Japan, in addition to the week in Kyoto during the celebrations. The return trip will be made by the Dollar liner President Taft.

PORTLAND CANAL RAILWAY IS SOON TO BE EXTENDED

Vancouver, April 5.—"I had a very satisfactory and successful trip and have arranged for the necessary capital to develop the Portland Canal Short Line Railway north and east from Stewart," declared Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., on his return here from Ottawa in speaking of his recent visit to Great Britain.

"During the coming season a plan of development on a very extensive scale will be worked out," he continued, "and I have assurance of abundance of capital with which to carry out the schemes, provided the resources of the country and the cost of the work come within reasonable bounds. Personally, I have unbounded confidence in the natural resources and wealth of the Northern country. Beyond that I have nothing further at the moment to report of my association with the development starting in the Portland Canal district, other than to say work on reconditioning the fourteen miles of railway already built there has started."

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1928

Benefic aspects rule to-day according to astrology which finds the planetary influences helpful to dwellers on the earth.

This is the day for seeking big opportunities and for making the best of them.

Builders and contractors should benefit, for giant structures are to rise in many cities.

Under this direction of the stars financial support may be more easily obtained than commonly and promoters of big enterprises should be benefit.

This is a most promising rule to engineers and all who deal in material things from a constructive point of view.

There is a sign read as presaging much interest in the military forces of the United States, and army officers may expect honors or promotions.

Neptune is now said to exercise a strong influence which is not favorable to the hopes of the dry wings of the great political parties.

The seers declare that while there will be much work against prohibition the eighteenth amendment will not be affected.

This malefic power of Neptune may cause disorders and troubles of various sorts, which will arouse reform impulses.

France will feel the effects of the rule of sinister planetary influences, it is prognisticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a happy year in which friendship and work combine to make happiness.

Children born on this day probably will have a strong trend toward mechanics. Many railway employees are born under this sign.

Uncle Wiggily and the Wrong Picture

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

Jackie Bow Wow, with the Lady Mouse Teacher from the Hollow Stump School on one side of him and Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit girl, on the other side, stood looking at the queer, jumbled sign which seemed to read PLA' ESOR.

We ought to paint that sign over for the man who made it," said Jackie, after he had solved the puzzle.

"I think so, myself," agreed Uncle Wiggily. With a stick dipped in some red mud near a spring of water the rabbit gentleman made the sign read, FOR SALE, which it should have been at first. If you did not guess the puzzle last night you know now what it is.

"Well, now that's over," said Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose backward, the way the jumbled letters had been. "I think you two children had better go to school."

"Yes, indeed," squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher. So she took Bunty by one paw and Jackie by the other, though the little mouse lady looked very small between her larger pupils, and back to the Hollow Stump School she hurried with them.

"I'm in a hurry!" said Mr. Twistytail.

"What are you going to do, Uncle Wiggily?" called back Baby Bunty before she hopped down over the hill and out of sight.

"I'll go look for more adventures," said Mr. Longears.

Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and Uncle Wiggily hopped through the woods and pretty soon Uncle Wiggily saw just ahead of him fat Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman.

"Hello, Mr. Twistytail please wait for me!" called the rabbit gentleman like a loud speaker on the radio.

Mr. Twistytail, hearing the rabbit's voice, turned about and, shouting like two loud speakers on two radios, said:

"I can't wait! I'm in a hurry taking Squeakie Squealer to Dr. Possum. I'm in a hurry!"

"I wonder what he means—taking Squeakie Squealer to the doctor's?" murmured Mr. Longears. "He hasn't any little pig boy with him. I guess Mr. Twistytail thinks I'm the Fuzzy Fox and he wants to eat away. But I'll catch up to him!"

Hoping fast, Uncle Wiggily was soon beside the pig gentleman, and then, to his surprise, Mr. Longears saw that, surely enough, Squeakie Squealer was with his big fat daddy. Only the daddy pig was so fat that when he stood in front of Squakie no one could see the little chap.

What's the matter with Squeakie Squealer?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"He seems to have the cryootis," grunted the fat pig.

"The cryootis?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "What in the world is that?"

"Why, Squeakie Squealer cries all the time," said the pig gentleman. "I'm taking him to Dr. Possum to find out the reason for his tears."

Surely enough, Squeakie was crying. But Uncle Wiggily kindly wiped away the tears and said: "I think Squeakie wants to be amused and to think of something besides himself. Here, Squeakie, see if you can tell me what is wrong with this picture?"

With a stick, the rabbit quickly drew in the sand a picture of a barn with a weather vane on top. The arrow of the vane was pointing to show that the wind came from the southwest. Uncle Wiggily made some smoke come out of the chimney of the picture barn and said again:

"What's wrong with that picture, Squeakie?" And the little pig boy was so interested that he forgot all about crying.

But did he solve the puzzle and find the bunny uncle's picture mistake? Ah, you must wait until to-morrow night to find out. Then, if you can't do the puzzle I'll do it for you. And if the cofee pot will pour out a cup of tea for the bread to swim in, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the owl's omelet.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

YOUNG ATHLETE HAS LEADING PART IN COLUMBIA PICTURE

Hugh Allan had to be athletic to take the leading male role opposite June Marlowe in "Wild Beauty," the Universal film starring Rex, the King of Wild Horses, which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Allan is a first rate horseman, an excellent swimmer and one of the best golfers on the West Coast.

His equestrian abilities were taxed in his thrilling role in "Wild Beauty" when he had to ride a wild horse to victory in a race. The skittish animal nearly threw him several times, but his training in the saddle saved him from a spill which less experienced riders would have taken over the horse's head.

Director Henry MacRae, engaged a capable supporting cast, including, besides Miss Marlowe and Allan, Hayes Robinson, William Bailey, Scott Seaton and J. Gordon Russell.

THRILLING MYSTERY STORY IS SHOWING AT VARIETY THEATRE

Mysterious hands, strange faces, unexpected events and eerie incidents mark the progress of "The Mystery Club," the Universal-Jewel now playing to crowded houses at the Variety Theatre. Splendid work is done by one of the best all-star casts ever assembled for a picture. The players are: Matt Moore, Edith Roberts, Mildred Harris, Charles Lane, Warner Oland, Henry Hebert, Charles Puffy, Alphonse Martell, Finch Smiles, Earl Metcalfe, Nat Carr, Jed Prouty, Alfred Allen, Sidney Bracey and Monte Montague.

"BATTLE OF SOMME," GREAT WAR PICTURE, NOW AT COLISEUM

The advance up the line of thousands of troops at night in the eerie light of a creeping barrage—the terrific gun fire, which was the opening feature of the big attack—the do-or-die spirit which showed itself in the fighting of the men when once they were "over the top," are scenes that cannot be forgotten.

Individual deeds of bravery which made military history; and intimate glimpses of the men, waiting, waiting for zero hour; the difficulties of bringing ammunition and food and supplies up to the front line, are shown with a realism that makes the onlooker feel as if he were a participant in the whole affair.

Produced in co-operation with the War Office, with official war scenes exhibited by permission of the trustees of the Imperial War Museum, and are Crown copyright.

This is no mere story—but a reconstructed sequence of events which took place during the memorable campaign. There is drama, plenty of it, tragedy, that only war can produce, and comedy, that saved many a Tommy during those terrible days.

The sheer bravery of the men whose heroic deeds won them V.C.'s brings a lump to the throat, and the dogged tenacity of the British during the ghastly Winter months makes one proud, indeed, of the men who endured so much.

"The Somme" is now being shown at the Coliseum.

NEW AND BRILLIANT ACTOR IS STARRED IN CAPITOL PICTURE

Four separate careers beckoned a Texas high school boy named John Boles, and now he's famous in a fifth.

This new and brilliant film leading man, who plays "Young Matt," Harold Bell Wright's hero in the First National Pictures' Production of "The Shepherd of the Hills" at the Capitol Theatre, finished high school in his home town, Greenville, Texas.

His father, a banker there, gave him the choice of college and backing for a medical career, or a position in the bank. A baseball team in the Southern League gave a bid for his services as southpaw pitcher, and a traveling glee club offered him a berth as singer.

He went to college, then to war as operative in the intelligence department. Carl Seagle heard him sing, took him to New York and later abroad as student and business manager, and launched him into musical comedy. Gloria Swanson saw him in the leading role of the light opera hit, "Kitt's Kisses," and hired him to play opposite her in "The Loves of Sunya."

VARIOUS WAYS OF GETTING A "KICK" SHOWN IN PICTURE

In Thomas H. Ince's new drama, "Those Who Dance," a walking stick is shown, the top of which secretes a cleverly devised flask. A scene in the Ince production, which deals with bootlegging conditions in the United States, shows a woman opening what appears to be a bottle of cow's milk. It contains, however, a "kick" that is entirely beyond the conception of any cow, a semblance of whose product has been shamelessly painted on the pint bottle. "Those Who Dance," a First National release, with Blanche Sweet, Bessie Love and Warner Baxter heading the all-star cast, is at the Playhouse Theatre.

ALICE TERRY AND IVAN PETROVICH ARE CO-STARRED

Will Hays is not the only movie celebrity who had to pump an organ in his boyhood for pin-money. Rex Ingram, famous movie director, had to do it, too. Both were ministers' sons, Will Hays in Ohio, and Rex Ingram in Dublin, Ireland.

Rex Ingram's father was Donnellan Lecturer at Trinity College, Dublin. Rex's mother became critically ill, however, and his father quit his faculty post and took a parish in the country.

He had two sons, Rex and Frank. When pin-money had to be earned the boys pumped the old organ, a perspiring job in those pre-electric days. When punishments were being meted out, they had to do the job for nothing.

"We had to ring the bell, too, and the greatest kick I ever got out of that," explained the famous Metro-Goldwyn director during the production of "The Garden of Allah" in the Trappist monastery at Staouell, Algeria, "was one time when I was sent to ring the bell for services I became inspired and rang the Catholic angelus on the Protestant church bell."

Where To Go To-night

CHAPLIN'S LATEST PICTURE BOOKED FOR DOMINION

From the thumping praise-drums of Hollywood and the suave typewriters of Times Square come advance notices of a new movie, "The Circus," which comes to the Dominion Theatre Monday. In this glorification of the cacophonous pageant of every childhood there is paradoxically, no noise; for it is of the silent drama. "The Circus" was written, produced, directed and acted in its chief role by Charlie Chaplin.

Recently sophisticated magazines have been telling in droll paragraphs of a visit made by Chaplin to New York last Summer, when he became acquainted with the Feitelbaums and Looeys of le M. Milt Gross. They do say, too, that Chaplin and Gross sat in a Sixth Avenue restaurant and talked into the the latest hours and that the result of their converse was an invitation from the comedian to the comic artist to sit in as advisory counsel on "The Circus." The outgrowth of that conversation seems to have been that Mr. Gross went to Hollywood, composed some of the "gags"—as cinematic lexicographers term comic sequences—of "The Circus" and then departed homeward because he liked New York.

"ROSES OF PICARDY" COMES TO VARIETY THEATRE NEXT WEEK

"Roses of Picardy" is a presentation of boldly drawn character studies amazingly real and human, each expressing a vital problem individual and intimate, yet common to whole classes of men and women involved in the war.

There is "Madeleine," a Flemish farmer's daughter, urged by the implacable spirit of generations symbolised in "The Spanish Farm," which has withstood the bloody wars of more than two centuries in the cockpit of Europe. The war, to Madeleine, is a problem of preservation of home—or compensation in lieu—and the survival of her lover.

To Skene, a young British officer, the war means, at first, an adventure, then a serious business—a job to be done—and afterwards, a memory of murder and muddied manners and morals, to be preserved as an object lesson for all time. At the Variety all next week.

SEYMOUR HICKS HERE NEXT WEEK

Famous English Comedian Will Open Engagement at Royal Victoria

That brilliant English light comedian, Seymour Hicks, supported by his wife and co-star, Ellaline Terriss, and his London company will open a week's engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Monday, April 9, presenting on Monday, Tuesday evenings and Wednesday matinee, "Mr. What's His Name"; Wednesday and Thursday evening, "Sleeping Partners" and "Scrooge," and on Friday and Saturday, "The Man in Dress Clothes," the latter a delightful play full of pathos and comedy, with many delightful moments. "Mr. What's His Name" is an adaptation from the French that affords him exceptional opportunities to reveal his versatility and his resource as a comedian of the first rank.

The double bill entertainment, consisting of "Scrooge," the dramatic version of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," by J. C. Buckstone, and "Sleeping Partners," a comedy from the pen of Sacha Guitry, will provide playgoers with an entertainment which will send them home feeling charmed and satisfied.

"Scrooge," though it only takes forty minutes to act, contains more incident than most three-hour plays do. During its original production in London, the late King Edward commanded its performance at Sandringham and was so charmed with it that he gave Mr. Hicks a loving cup inscribed "From His Majesty King Edward VII., to Seymour Hicks—Actor." "Scrooge" is in itself wonderful and the playgoers here will have the opportunity of seeing a light comedian who can transform himself from comedy to tragedy in the "wink of an eyelash."

"Sleeping Partners" was introduced to Londoners by the inimitable Mr. Hicks, and from the first performance scored a huge success. Besides the veteran comedian, there are only two other characters, with the exception of a servant, but the smallness of the cast in no way detracts from the enjoyment it invariably supplies, and from the rise of the curtain the audience follows the action with uncontrollable hilarity. Some of the scenes are typically French, and, played by a less experienced actor, might easily give offence. Mr. Hicks, however, never allows himself or his colleague to approach the vulgar, and those who witness the production may rest assured of a delightful hour or two of healthy enjoyment. Undoubtedly "Sleeping Partners" is as witty a farce as was ever in this city.

"DAVID GARRICK" ON HOLIDAY BILL AT CRYSTAL GARDEN

The Co-optimist Comedy Company have under rehearsal for the nights of Saturday, April 7 and Monday April 9, what promises to be the finest performance of the season. Those who remember seeing the late Sir Charles Wyndham in the title role will realize the enormous possibilities of "David Garrick," as a play where humor is cleverly blended with pathos. In this special production for the holiday week-end Mr. Legge-Willis will play Garrick, sustaining most of the weight of the play in the strenuous drunken scene in the second act. Mrs. Legge-Willis will play the important part of Ada, who is infatuated with the actor. The long and difficult part of her father, Simon Ingot, will be performed by Major Taylor. The dissipated and horsey Squire Chivy will be played by Mr. Richard Blomfield. Other members of the cast are Miss Lorna Lewin, Miss Henslowe, Mr. Jack Henslowe, Mr. Stephen Langton and Mr. Gicks.

The play is in three acts and deals with an episode in the life of the great eighteenth century actor. It is a performance worthy of this clever company's special Easter programme.

The evening's entertainment will conclude with a dance programme to which the entire audience is invited.

RUSSIAN BALLET SPECTACLE PLANNED

Boris Novikoff, premier dancer and late balletmaster at the Russian Imperial Court, will present an entertainment in May, with exhibitions of the beautiful classical ballet, "Le Spectre de al Rose"; tableau choreographique from a poem by Theophile Cautier, music by Carl Maria Von Weber, costumes by Leon Bakst; "Swan Hunting," fairy ballet in one act, music by Tschaikowski; "Carnival of Schumann," scenes romantique, in one act, music by Robert Schumann and choreography by B. Novikoff.

The various episodes of "Carnival of Schumann" furnish an opportunity for revealing the rich humor and simple pathos of the art of the Russians, and are in the nature of a pendant to "Les Sylphides." All the characters of the delightful Italian puppet plays appear, Pierrot and Columbine, Harlequin and Florestan, and all the rest, eager to transport spectators by means of ironical romatic episodes into a land of dreams where Goldoni and Pulci and Carlo Gozzi reign supreme.
